Government to Pay $1.70 for Apples In County

Purchase Program Set Up

Fruit Will Go To Schools

The federal government will buy apples in Richland county in a move to prevent glutting of the market, the county Triple-A office announced today.

Uncle Sam's Production and Marketing administration will pay $1.70 a bushel for all the apples it buys, well above the price orchardists are getting on the retail market.

Guy Taylor, county Triple-A Chairman, said the fruit purchased by the government will be distributed free to schools under the food program which has been in effect for several years.

Taylor said his office wouldn't know how many apples will be purchased in the county until the state Production and Marketing office sets up quotos.

Applications from orchardists who want to sell fruit to the government will be received by the county Triple A office on North Mulberry street until noon next Monday. The county quotas will be set after the applications are studied at the state PMA office in Columbus.

Taylor said first grade apples are selling at from $1 to $1.50 a bushel.

PRICE HITS BOTTOM

However, the bumper apple crop — reported biggest in 60 years — has forced some growers to sell apples as low as three bushels for a dollar, Taylor said.

The government today announced plans to buy 40 carloads of apples in Ohio, but Taylor said that figure probably will be upped if it is found the apple price is still dropping.

It is expected that only large growers will figure in the purchase plan, at least in the immediate future.

Meanwhile the government prepared today to extend planting controls over half a dozen major crops to hold down farm surpluses next year, it was announced in Washington.

The crops are corn, cotton, rice, wheat, peanuts and tobacco. They are the so-called "basic crops." They provide a large share of farmers' cash income. Crop production reports on the 1949 harvest issued this week indicated the need for curtailing output, government spokesmen said.

If successful, the controls can be expected to put a dent in farm income next year, they added.

Gets Chair For Murder

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (INS)— Earl D. Bircham, "public enemy no. 1" who eluded the FBI for 13 years, today awaited transfer to Eddyville state prison where his violent career of crime will end in the electric chair.

An all-male jury at Louisville, Ky., deliberated one hour and ten minutes last night and returned a verdict of guilty, fixing Bircham's punishment at death in the chair.

The 38-year old Tennessean, an escape artist who three times fled the Kansas prison, was convicted of the murder of Police Officer John Ross, on Aug. 14, 1949. The Federal government had intended to try him for a series of bank robberies.

Bircham, a throw-back to the Dillinger type of midwest bank thief, had carved two revolvers from soap while in jail, but was apprehended before making a Dillinger-like getaway.

Ask Tally On Arms

LAKE SUCCESS —(AP)— Russia has renewed her demand for a world-wide count of atomic bombs by the United Nations. U. S. Delegate Warren Austin called the Soviet move "another attempt to fool the public."

The Soviet demand was made by Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob Malik late yesterday in the U.N. Security council. It called for a tally of all weapons, from atom bombs to airplanes and artillery, from battleships to bayonets.

Each nation would report on its own weapons under Malik's proposal, with no provision for checking on the truth of the statements.

Warren Austin, U. S. delegate who is this month's chairman of the council, did not answer Malik on the floor. But immediately after the meeting he told newsmen: "A census of weapons without verification is meaningless. This is another attempt to fool the public."

ADDS NOTHING NEW

"The proposal for the addition of atomic bombs to the census adds nothing new," Austin said. "It continues to reflect an unwillingness on the part of the Soviet Union to recognize the real nature of the atomic problem.

The Russian proposal was not acted on and Malik refused to go into detail on it when he spoke to newsmen after the meeting.

Malik was directly asked if Russia has atomic weapons.

He answered, "read the Tass communication."

That Soviet Press agency said on Sept. 25 that the Russians have atomic weapons at their disposal."

Mystery Mist Dyes Tresses Of Children

CINCINNATI —(U.P.)— An investigation was underway today in connection with a mysterious chemical mist that rolled through suburban Rosclawn - Bond Hill areas yesterday, damaging paint on several homes and reportedly discoloring children's hair and washings hung out to dry.

Some 50 house-holders whose property allegedly suffered from the vapors assembled late yesterday in an indignation meeting and demanded that city officials take action.

Councilman John M. Molloy said he would ask council to make a thorough investigation.

Observers said several small children had their hair tinted a greenish yellow by the vapors.

Denies Charge

NEW YORK — (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, on his arrival from Rome early today, denied a Soviet charge that he had given $30,000 to Josef Cardinal Mindzenty to finance a plot against the communist regime in Hungary.

Rain Brings End To Fall Heat Wave

Skies Due To Clear Tonight

The return of fall weather was heralded by a typical chilly autumn rain today as Mansfielders exchanged hot weather apparel for raincoats and umbrellas.

About a half inch of rain had fallen in the city by noon today, and overcast skies promised more.

However, the weatherman said skies would clear by tonight, and tomorrow will be fair and cooler.

Mansfield's temperature of 66 at noon today was a sharp contrast to the high of 80 recorded at 2:30 p. m. yesterday. Low for the 24-hour period ending at 7:30 a. m. today was 58 at 7:30 a. m.

The east continued to enjoy summer heat today after New York recorded a top of 85.1 yesterday, the hottest day on record for Oct. 11. Highs of 86 at Harrisburg, Pa., and Rochester, N. Y., set new records for this late in the season. Philadelphia, Pa. and Albany, N. Y., also had 86, and Washington, D. C., had 85.

Heavy rains of up to two inches fell today in Illinois and Indiana, increasing the fears of farmers that corn knocked down by hurricane-strength winds this week might be spoiled before it could be harvested.

Gov. Luther Youngdahl of Minnesota said his information indicated the state "faces a real emergency." He ordered state employment officials to mobilize all possible help to save the corn, from 30 to 95 per cent of which was knocked down in some fields.

At Fort Collins, Colo., meanwhile, rescue parties searched along the snow-blanketed continental divide for two Colorado A. and M. college students lost Sunday from a week-end hiking party. High winds and swirling snow hampered the searchers.

Red Troops Near Canton

Diplomats Fleeing Nationalist City

HONG KONG — (AP) — The Red heat was on Canton today.

The government and foreign diplomats fled the nationalist capital—a step ahead of Chinese communist troops.

Communist newspapers in this British crown colony carried reports that Canton's defenders were preparing to evacuate and hand the city to the Reds.

Red forces were believed no more than 40 miles of the South China metropolis of nearly a million people— seat of the nationalist government in name only. There were no details of yesterday's reports the invaders had taken Tsingyun, 40 miles north.

Communist military dispatches said Swatow, on the China coast northeast of Canton, already had fallen. Amoy, they said, was tottering. The Reds claimed the nationalists were pulling out of most of their holdout positions all along the coast.

The communist press said nationalist troops guarding Canton's perimeter were getting set to evacuate by sea to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's island bastion of Formosa and to Hainan island.

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Fearing another Black Dahlia slaying, police today launched an intensive search of Griffith park's Fern Dell for the body of Jean Spangler, film bit player.

Citizens' Group Backs Charter Plan

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mansfielders will be asked Nov. 8 to vote on the proposal: "Shall a Commission be Chosen to Frame a City Charter?" To inform voters of the ramifications of the charter form of city government, The News-Journal will publish a series of articles on the issue. The first appears below:

BY GAYLORD HAKE

The issue, "Shall a Commission be Chosen to Frame a Charter" was placed on the November ballot by petitions circulated by a group of Mansfielders who organized under the title "The Citizens' Committee for Council-Manager Plan."

As is evident from the name of the organization, this group favors a council-manager form of government for Mansfield. Its candidates for the charter commission have gone on record as favoring a council-manager plan.

However, at the November election Mansfielders will vote only to draft a charter. The type of charter that will be drafted will be determined to a large extent by which charter commission candidates are chosen.

And the charter, after it is completed, will be published and copies made available to residents of Mansfield. This procedure is required by law. Then the charter itself will be voted on at an election.

If the provisions of the charter are not popular with the voters the charter can be defeated at the polls and Mansfield's municipal government will remain unchanged.

An issue of major importance is that Mansfielders realize the selection of charter commission candidates will determine what sort of a charter will be drafted.

If the slate of 15 candidates endorsed by the Citizens' Committee for Council-Manager plan is selected, the charter will have provisions for a council-manager government.

The Citizens' Committee candidates are opposed by a slate of 15 other candidates from both the Republican and Democratic parties. Almost every member of the coalition previously has held public office.

In general, "old-line" party politicians look with disfavor on a council-manager form of government. The coalition group has yet to make any announcement as to the kind of charter it would favor.

The Citizens' Committee candidates are a group of representative citizens, none of whom have held public office.

The candidates of the two groups will not be separated on the ballot. Their names will appear in alphabetical order, on the ballot, directly below the question "Shall a Commission be Chosen to Frame a Charter."

So, if a voter wishes to cast his vote for either group, he must learn in advance what candidates represent the group he favors.

Meet Tonight At School

Roseland Residents Get Village Plan

Plans for the incorporation of the Roseland area into a community of several thousand persons will be aired at a public meeting at 7:30 p. m. today at Roseland school.

The meeting to discuss and explain the incorporation plan was called by a citizens' committee chosen by residents of the Hanna road area where an epidemic of "infantile diarrhea" killed eight infants last summer.

The residents of the area will attempt to ban together to bring a safe water supply, sewage disposal system, better roads and, generally improved conditions to the suburban area northwest of Mansfield.

Harry Simpson, chairman of the Hanna road citizens' committee, will preside at the meeting tonight.

Almong the guest speakers will be City Sanitary Engineer B. V. BeVier, who will discuss the methods of bringing city water lines into the Roseland area if the incorporation movement is successful.

Dr. Harry Wain, Mansfield-Richland county health commissioner, will discuss the health and sanitation problems that have developed in the suburban area.

Movies on sanitation will be shown and several other speakers are being contacted.

County commissioners have been formally invited to the meeting, Simpson said.

However, all county, city and township officials, as well as all interested citizens will be welcomed.

25 Die In Rail Crash

BUENOS AIRES —(INS)— At least 25 persons were killed and 70 injured in a collision between a suburban passenger train and a freight train in the heart of Buenos Aires just before last midnight.

The head-on crash occurred in the yards of the Presidente Peron station.

Argentine's President Peron, for whom the station was named, and his wife Evita rushed to the scene of the tragedy with several cabinet ministers immediately after the crash.

First reports said that a jammed signal box was responsible.

The passenger train was just picking up speed when it smashed into the freight. Most of the casualties occurred in wooden first and second class coaches immediately behind the engine.

Schedules Talks Here Thursday

Senator Robert A. Taft will be an overnight guest at the Malabar Farm of author-farmer Louis Bromfield tonight prior to his address on "Socialized Medicine" at the combined luncheon of the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs Thursday noon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Senator Taft, who will seek re-election as Ohio's senior senator in 1950, will appear here at Thursday's luncheon for the first time since he was campaigning for the senatorial election in 1944.

He is scheduled to speak at the Wooster Community Forum in Wooster tonight, after which he will come to the Bromfield home.

His Thursday address to the local service clubs will be followed at 1 p. m. by a meeting with Richland county farmers and a conference with representatives of Mansfield's medical and dental professions at 2:15, after which he is scheduled to leave for Dover and New Philadelphia, where he will speak Thursday night.

He is expected to return to Washington late Thursday night, but will be back in Ohio again Saturday for the inauguration ceremonies of Marietta university's new president.

The appearance of the senior senator in Mansfield is one of numerous speaking engagements he will fill in a tour of Ohio's 88 counties prior to the 1950 election.

9th Man Flees OSR

Escapes Called 'An Epidemic'

The ninth inmate to escape the Mansfield reformatory in the past two weeks was reported missing at 7:45 a. m. today.

Acting Superintendent George J. Allarding, who said the escapes had reached "epidemic" proportions in recent days, added that a posse of 10 OSR officials were searching the area for the latest escapee.

Allarding identified the fugitive as Louis Brown jr., 22, of Hamilton county, reported missing from the hog farm. Brown was received on Feb. 7 of this year to serve a one to 20 year term for operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

According to city police records, Brown is the ninth prisoner to escape the institution since Sept. 29.

Allarding said most of the prisoners who have left the farm recently, all of them trusties, have had only a short while before their appearance before the parole board. He said escapes were "very light", during the months of June, and July and August "when we expect more escapes."

Three of the nine who escaped have been captured. Those include: William Hall, 23, serving time for burglary, who escaped on Sept. 29; Edward H. Brooks, 17, forgery, who escaped on Oct. 3, and Frank A. Black, 19, apprehended by an OSR guard on North Diamond street Monday night a few hours after he escaped from the orchard.

Among the six still at large are Julius Faulkenberg, 27, and Frederick L. Shaver, 23, both suspected of the assault and robbery of an aged farm couple and their daughter near Ganges Sunday night.

STAR FARMER—Kenneth England (above), Chandler, Ariz., has been named Star Farmer of America at the national convention of the Future Farmers of America, at Kansas City. John Moneysmith of near Ashland was awarded the American Farm degree at the convention.

Milk War Cuts Cost

Shelby housewives today were benefiting from the results of a milk-price war which has held the price of milk one cent under the price offered Mansfield buyers since the one-cent raise was effected here Oct. 1.

Homogenized milk in paper cartons is being sold in Shelby for 18 cents a quart as compared with Mansfield's price of 19 cents, including milk from two Mansfield dairies, the Page Dairy company and the Isaly Dairy company.

Officials of both companies said today they were not aware of the price cut in Shelby, since the one-cent increase had been passed along to wholesalers at the same time it was put into effect in Mansfield.

A spokesman for the Walker Dairy store in Shelby, which serves as wholesaler for the Page Dairy company, however, said they have been charging a wholesale price of 17 cents for a quart of homogenized milk since last spring and had not been notified of the one-cent increase which the Page company started here.

Employes of the Isaly Dairy store, a retail store, said they have been unable to go along with the one-cent increase in order to meet competitive prices of the Walker dairy and the Shelby Pure Milk company. Shelby's only two wholesale dairies, neither of which has announced a change in prices since last spring.

They did reveal, however, that they are paying one cent more for wholesale milk since Mansfield's price increase.

UAW Plans 15 Strikes

TOLEDO — (INS) — Richard Gosser, international vice-president of the CIO-United Auto Workers, reported today that strike action against 15 firms in northwestern Ohio is inevitable.

According to a new plan suggested by Gosser, the auto workers will strike at only one plant at a time.

"We are positively going to take one Toledo plant down and we are going to keep it down and so far as I am concerned it will be down a year if necessary," the union head said.

"I don't think the Toledo Chamber of Commerce would allow any plant to settle with us if it wanted to. We are not fighting the individual plants but an employers' union, the chamber of commerce."

The union is scheduled to go on strike Friday in an effort to enforce its demand for an employer-financed pension.

"One industrialist offered me 12 cents an hour in wage increases if I would forget the pension plan," said Gosser. "He said he would see me in hell before he would go on the pension and I told him I would see him in hell before I would take his 12 cents without pension."

Contract Parleys Resumed

Murray Sees Steel 'Peace'

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. —(INS)— John L. Lewis and soft coal operators resumed their contract talks today under government pressure for a quick settlement of the three-week coal strike.

They will bargain against a "deadline" fixed by Federal Mediation Chief Cyrus S. Ching who told them to report "substantial progress" soon or the government will move into the dispute.

Ching did not reveal how long he would wait except to state that he had in mind "a very short period."

The conferences here are between Lewis and northern and western operators producing nearly 300 million tons of bituminous coal annually.

At Charleston, W. Va., United Mine Workers Secretary - Treasurer John Owens goes back into negotiating sessions today with the Southern Coal Producers association headed by Joseph E. Moody.

Lewis and the coal men have been negotiating intermittently for four months without appreciable progress toward a new wage agreement to replace the contract that expired last June 30.

MURRAY OPTIMISTIC

Meanwhile, Philip Murray says the nationwide steel strike will end soon—with complete victory for his men in their fight for free pensions and insurance.

"I assure you that before very long we will all be happy," Murray said in a fighting address at Youngstown, O. It was his first talk of a pep tour to take him to several of the nation's steel centers.

There was no reply from industry to Murray's optimism — or to his charges industry had forced 454,000 of his men to strike.

The U. S. Conciliation service went ahead setting up separate meetings with union and top industry leaders in an effort to break the strike. The first session is scheduled with Bethlehem Steel corporation tomorrow at New York.

Blasts Air Force B-36

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Fleet Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey told Congress today that the air force B-36 would be "of no use" in gaining the command of the air the United States must have to win the next war.

Halsey declared that the next war will start with an attack upon one of America's allies and that to meet such an attack the U. S. must immediately obtain command of the air.

But the admiral told the House armed services committee that the B-36, designed for long-range "atomic blitz" warfare, would be useless for such a purpose.

Halsey asserted that unless the first attack by an aggressor could be countered without delay, the U. S. would be left in "economic, political, and psychological isolation."

"You know, my dears," she told reporters, "I'm one of the most accomplished pickpockets in the world."

Firemen Make Six Runs

City Threatens To Invoke Leaf Burning Ban

City firemen are going to fall back on the ordinance against burning leaves on streets unless property owners and children stop setting bonfires.

In the past two days, firemen have made six trips to extinguish leaf fires which got out of hand. Two runs were made yesterday, the first at 2:15 p. m. to Glessner and Wood street and the second on Rowland avenue between West Third and Heineman boulevard where a leaf fire threatened two maple trees and a utility pole.

Although firemen attribute cause of the fires to property owners who are anxious to get rid of the leaves, several residents of the city say they've seen school children drop lighted matches into piles of leaves along curbs on their way home from school.

One west-side property owner was approached last night by a school boy who asked if he might burn the leaves which the property owner had piled for the city collection. Although the resident told the boy not to burn the leaves, the leaves were soon on fire and the property owner spent the rest of the evening watching his fire so that it wouldn't spread.

Central station firemen said a major fire was averted today by an early report of a blaze at the Gulf service station at Park avenue east and North Adams. The alarm, turned in at 2:05 a. m., summoned firemen to the station with the report that a water heater was giving off excessive flames. When firemen arrived they found that a compressor motor had stalled and was on fire.

Laud Traffic Safety Plan At Bucyrus

National Council's Analysis Reported

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus' traffic safety program during 1948 received widespread commendation in a traffic analysis prepared by the National Safety council and made public at a city-wide safety meeting held Tuesday night at the courthouse here.

The report, which was based on prepared forms and statistics furnished the National Safety council by the Bucyrus Police department, was read and analyzed by William Knight, traffic safety advisor for the state highway department.

Employment of six additional patrolmen was recommended, based on the national council's recommendation of one patrolman per 500 inhabitants. Bucyrus at present has nine patrolmen and four officers in its department.

Other recommendations of the report included: transfer of traffic engineering duties from the police department to the city engineer; a step-up in traffic violation convictions and a drive to obtain reports on many accidents at present unreported to police.

The city's safety education program in the schools was commended as was its publicity program in connection with newspapers and posters.

The motor vehicle death rate here was less than half that of the average in cities of corresponding size, the report pointed out. Last year there were two traffic fatalities here.

Knight, who was introduced by Mayor R. L. Hertzer, delivered traffic safety talks in all of the city's schools last week. School children also were given safety tips by Charles Ghist, police department safety officer.

Observations On Columbus Day

Many Persons Still Cling To Belief World's Flat

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON — (UP) — If you look around the world, you'll find a lot of folks who hold that we live on a flat surface

Christopher Columbus, among others, believed otherwise.

We'll bring it up to the minute, by reminding one and all that today is Columbus Day. It was back in 1492 that Chris got a yen to travel. He contacted the queen of Spain. According to available information, she hocked her jewels or dug into the royal sock and got the old boy started, complete with ships and men.

He landed on our shores on Oct. 12, 1492.

Eventually, the man we honor wound up in the pokey with his legs in chains—still crying that the world was round. There are many who, despite the evidence, still claim it's as flat as a cocktail table.

The National Geographic society, which knows almost everything, raised the question after almost 457 years of debate. There still is debate.

I went over and fished through the records.

People in the Ethiopian hills believe the earth is like a pancake. That's according to American oil drillers who are working in Ethiopia and keep in touch with National Geographic.

These oil men reported that the natives of Ethiopia are concerned "lest recent deep-drilling operations puncture the earth's plane, letting oil leak into the void underneath."

As a matter of fact, the primitive people on earth still regard it as flat

Take the Waduman tribe in the north territory of Australia.

The people follow the sun. When it sinks, the folks duck into a hole—and they find darkness. Which to them means an even keel and something that won't roll them in the middle of the night.

Tsimshian Indians of British Columbia live on what they consider a flat earth—surrounded by the rolling sea—"and supported by a man who lies on his back and supports a pole on which the earth turns—straight-wise."

In olden days many fathers of the church, including St. Augustine and Thomas Aquinas, accepted the theory that the earth was a vast plain. They relied on the words, translated, of Isaiah, Job, and Moses, which appeared to describe the earth as flat.

"Greater in length than in breadth, with heaven, embracing the universe, as a vault joined to the earth."

National Guard Says Opening Available

Openings are available in the Air National Guard and the Ground National Guard for either veterans or non-veterans, the Army recruiting station revealed today.

Also announced was a reduction in the minimum-year enlistments in the regular air force and regular army. Minimum enlistment in the army, effective last week, is two years instead of three. In the air force it is three years instead of the previous four.

LOST 75 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

Mrs. Della Phillabaum, Box 203, West Lafayette, Ohio writes, "I have lost 75 lbs. with Rennel in four months and have never known a hungry moment. I am so much lighter on my feet and have never felt better. Rennel has done a world of good for me."

Imagine, eat plenty and lose weight with this simple yet effective amazing home recipe. After purchasing a bottle of Rennel from your druggist pour the contents into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Don't be switched to another product, insist on genuine Rennel —Adv.

Sets New Trial Date

CHICAGO — (INS) — The government mapped plans today for a new trial for Preston Tucker and seven associates on charges of fraud and conspiracy following a mistrial ruling in federal court.

Judge Walter J. LaBuy, who declared the mistrial yesterday on what was said to be a "bonehead blunder" by a government witness, ordered the second trial to start next Monday in Chicago federal court.

The jurist ruled that prosecution testimony was "prejudicial" and ordered clerks to call 125 veniremen for selection of a new jury.

At the time of the mistrial ruling, the case against Tucker and seven other "dream car" officials was rolling along in its second week. Four government witnesses had been heard.

It was testimony by the last sudden end to the Tucker trial. Mark J. Mourne, one-time secrecretary of the Tucker corporation referred to a criminal record of one of the defendants, Harold Karsten alias Abe Karatz.

Ashland To Hire Legal Help In Phone Dispute

ASHLAND—A sum not to exceed $500 was voted by council here last night to secure legal assistance in protesting the proposed rate increases of the Northern Ohio Telephone company. The action was taken at an informal discussion attended by a group of Loudonville citizens.

Thomas Maxson, Columbus attorney and former secretary of the Ohio Public Utilities commission, met with council at the request of the local Chamber of Commerce. Maxson is expected to represent Ashland at the PUC hearings on the proposed rate increases. The deadline for filing the protest is Oct. 23 and efforts are being made to have the hearing held in Ashland rather than in Columbus.

During last night's session it was pointed out the proposed private or business line increases here of from $4.25 to $7 per month differ greatly from those proposed in Wadsworth, also served by the company. In Wadsworth, where automatic equipment has been installed, the rate would be boosted from $4.50 to $5.50.

Points stressed during the discussion charged the local phone company has too many parties on rural lines—as many as 10 on some; there are too many interruptions; present equipment is in poor condition and the quality of service inadequate and the proposed increase is not warranted by present service.

The firm, which purchased the Ashland lines a year ago, contends it is making less than two per cent profit and seeks at least three and a half per cent profit. Recently the phone firm announced plans to construct a new building and purchased a lot. The lot has been boarded up and a large sign placed on it designating it as the future home of the new building but nothing has been done towards construction, council was informed.

Unused Ammo Problem Solved

Army Takes 'Sting' Out of Old Shells

SEATTLE — (UP) — Those shells, bombs and other high explosives that weren't fired by the armed forces during the war are being taken care of.

Some of them were too deteriorated to be handled safely. They were destroyed. But thousands of tons of unused ammunition have been brought back. The Army has found that disassembly of the ammunition is not only practical, but profitable.

Construction of a special ammunition disassembly plant has been authorized. The cost will run around $100,000. The plant will be located in the extreme northwest corner of the Umatilla ordnance depot reservation near Ordance, Ore. The nearest inhabitant will be four miles distant.

The plant will be capable of handling shells and bombs from the small ammunition variety to block busters.

Disassembly will be handled behind heavily armored barricades.

Here's how they'll do it:

Bombs or shells will be wheeled over a ramp to a "work mounting pier," where the explosive will be anchored in a vise. A television camera will be set up about eight feet away.

The operator then will start disassembling behind a heavily reinforced steel and concrete barrier. Behind the barrier is an electric operating motor which turns the wrench fastened to the nose of the bomb, thereby deactivating the missile.

Eighty feet behind the first barricade will be a compact earthen barrier. About 160 feet away will be another wall of reinforced concrete. At that point the operator works remote controls when handling shells or bombs containing over 50 pounds and up to 4,000 pounds of high explosive.

Using the television camera, the operator can view at all times how the deactivization is progressing from the safety of a shelter.

After shells and bombs have been disarmed, all parts are cleaned and inspected. If found to be good, the missile is reloaded, painted and re-stored. Powder and other material is reclaimed if the shell is not considered satisfactory for re-use.

Live steam processes all powder and the reclaimed TNT concentrate is packaged and stored.

Judge Sues Officer For Alleged Attack

AKRON — (AP) — One thing seems sure: nearby Barberton's police and judicial officers are not all in complete agreement.

Barberton's Municipal Judge Glenn A. Peters has sued Police Sergeant James C. Hinds for $6,000, charging assult and battery. Judge Peters claims in his common pleas suit that Hinds beat him twice within the past seven months.

American Zinc Strike Fails

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union (CIO) Tuesday called off its year-long strike at the American Zinc Oxide company plant.

Woodward Louden, secretary of the strikers local, admitted defeat. He considered the strike "was a lost cause."

Members of the Columbus Oxide Workers, Local 536, an affiliate of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, voted to end the strike at a recent meeting, Louden said. About 150 went on strike Aug. 13, 1948, in a dispute over union recognition and other issues. The plant, however, has been in operation since last winter, when American Zinc signed a contract with the Chemical Workers union (AFL).

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

300 Game Trip Seats Go On Sale

Tire Club Opens Train To Public

The 25-Year-Club of The Mansfield Tire and Rubber company today announced that it has arranged in cooperation with the Tyger Booster Club to accomodate approximately 300 more persons on its special train facilities to the Mansfield Massillon football game on Friday, Oct. 21.

The tickets are available at the Mansfield Tire Service store, 157 Park Avenue west, from 8:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. The fare is $2.50 round - trip. The club announced that also available at the service station will be approximately 150 combination game-train tickets for $3.75 each. No train tickets will be sold after Monday, October 17.

Meantime today, George Sherman, ticket manager at the high school, announced there is still a plentiful supply of game tickets available at the R. E. Moorhead company, Park Avenue West, where they are being sold from 9:00 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. daily and at the Senior High School where they are being sold from 8:00 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. daily

J. A. Willard, President of the Tire club, said that all train tickets distributed from the Mansfield Tire Service store are stamped "Train No. 2" and he requested that persons obtaining such tickets ride in the coaches so marked. Tickets already distributed among Mansfield Tire employes and their guests are for the coaches which will be marked "Train No. 1."

The reason for this is that two trains may have to be used, Willard said, adding that advance planning has been directed toward eliminating as much confusion as possible at train time.

The train will leave the Pennsylvania station at 5:15 p. m. on the day of the game. It will start its return trip one-half hour after the game is over. Sandwiches and soft drinks will be served from a special baggage car and by "butchers" passing through the coaches.

The Mansfield High School band will go to the Massillon game in four buses chartered by the Tyger Booster Club with the trip being made possible by Mansfield Tire. The band must leave in early afternoon so that it will be on time for a dinner which the Massillon band is tendering under a custom of long-standing between the two schools.

About 82 million board feet of timber is used each year in making matches.

Austria Keeps Right

VIENNA — (AP) — Austrian voters kept their nation lined up with the anti-communist countries of Europe in a weekend parliamentary election marked by a decided upsurge in rightist sentiment.

Final unofficial returns today revealed the Chancellor Leopold Figl's anti-red coalition government had remained firmly in the saddle despite some loss of strength. That coalition, composed of the conservative People's party and the Socialists, will continue to run the new government.

Figl's people'sparty held its rank as Austria's biggest party, winning 77 seats in the 165-member lower house of parliament. The Socialists won 67 seats, to give the government coalition an overwhelming 144-vote bloc in the chamber.

Communists, who won only four seats in the 1945 election, added one more in Sunday's voting.

Maid Steps On Prowler In Apartment of King George VI

LONDON — (UP) — Scotland Yard has begun investigations into the presence and motives of an intruder captured in the palace home of King George VI.

The intruder, who was not identified, was believed to have climbed a 10-foot brick wall, surmounted by a row of massive iron spikes, within 25 yards of a sentry Monday.

Once into the grounds he climbed a ladder left by repairmen and entered the palace through the king's private apartments.

He was first discovered when a maid, disturbed by a noise, started to get out of bed to turn on a light. The intruder was stretched out flat on the floor beside the bed and the maid stepped on him.

Her screams roused the other servants, who called in sentries. The intruder disappeared, but was found, after a search of one and one half hours, huddling in a bed in a spare servant's room.

At that time the royal family still was on vacation in Scotland and there was no one in the palace except the servants.

Asbestos was first discovered more than 2,000 years ago in the Italian Alps. Its elastic fibers were woven into burial wraps for Roman emperors.

Senator's Son Jailed

NEW YORK — (UP) — Mr and Mrs. Robert M. Kilgore, son and daughter-in-law of Sen. Harley M. Kilgore, D., W. Va., were arrested Tuesday following a fist fight with police in their swank Brooklyn apartment

Police charged Kilgore, 25, with felonious assault and violation of the Sullivan law. Mrs. Kilgore, 24, was booked on a charge of acting in concert on the Sullivan law violation.

She was later freed and charges were dismissed against her.

Police said they called on the Kilgores in answer to complaints from neighbors. Kilgore, an ex-GI attending Columbia university, allegedly attacked Patrolman Vincent Fuchs and a fist fight followed before Kilgore was overpowered.

Following the brawl, police said, two foreign-make revolvers, described as souvenirs, were found in the apartment.

Galion Man Describes Ship Fire

'Drinking Mild; Water Lacking'

A Galion survivor of the Noronic disaster told a Canadian government inquiry commission yesterday there had been only "sociable" drinking among passengers on the ship's last cruise and that he saw no one drunk. He said also there was no water being thrown on the fire, that he saw.

Harold Sharrock, who with his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Amelia Guinup, escaped their D deck staterooms, was the first witness called in the inquiry at Toronto. Sharrock testified to the "remarkably" good behavior of passengers on Sept. 17 when the luxuryliner burned at its dock, costing approximately 130 lives.

He said he saw only one hose in operation during the blaze and he added: "No water was coming out of it." He said he heard no fire alarm, except that after he reached the wharf, he heard the ship's whistle blowing.

On examination by Frank Wilkinson, counsel for Canada Steamship lines, owners of the Noronic, the witness said he probably was confused at the previous Cleveland inquiry when he was quoted as saying two members of the crew helped him work hoses. He also said he could not recall having told the Cleveland inquiry that he saw three hoses in operation.

Sharrock told of being awakened by a commotion and on opening his stateroom door saw a woman "on fire from the top of her head to her feet."

Sharrock, who was aroused by his wife when she complained she smelled smoke, joined a crew of rescuers after seeing that his wife and mother-in-law were safely on their way from the burning ship. Sharrock found the women early the next morning in a Toronto hotel.

A medical certificate was presented to the court that Capt. William Taylor, master of the ill-fated ship, had a diabetic condition. It added that he suffered shock and nervousness as a result of the tragedy and should be confined to bed.

Four Injured In Explosion

OTTAWA — (AP) — A flash explosion of gasoline fumes at a filling station last night sent four persons to the hospital with serious bourns. One of the victims was a seven-year-old boy.

Roy Fisher of Ottawa said he and Charles Agner, 27, and Eugene Imbody, age unknown, were shoveling fine stone over two gasoline storage tanks that had just been placed in the ground at the filling station operated by Agner.

"Without warning a flash explosion occured right over the tanks, throwing flames into the air," Fisher said. Gasoline in the newlyfilled tanks did not explode of catch fire.

Still Accepting Craft Students

Women may still register for the Thursday night crafts class at the YWCA, Miss Agnes Kessler, executive secretary of the YWCA, said today. Miss Kessler said there is room for a few more adults in the Thursday class which is taught from 7 to 9 p. m.

The Wednesday night painting class has its full quota of students, she added.

Both the painting and crafts classes are taught by Mrs. Alice Twitchell, part-time member of the YWCA staff.

Million Dollar Air Guard Installation Half Complete

Mansfield's 164 Air National Guard Fighter squadron's million dollar installation is about half finished. The group of buildings and parking apron being built for the squadron by Freibel and Hartman, Shelby contractors, will be completed by spring, guard officials said today.

The guard installation will occupy 21 acres of property at the Municipal airport to the west and north of old State Route 13, and bounded on the south by Route 13 A detour around the port.

The chief building will be the giant hangar which is now about half completed. Steel trusses for the roof are being put in today. The hanger will provide over 23,000 square feet of storage place for planes. It will also house adjoining shops.

Other structures being built now are a crash truck building, a warehouse, an administration building and other storage facilities. The warehouse, a one story long brick affair is now completed on the exterior. Only the inside finishing remains to be done.

Deny Hurting Soybean Group

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The Ohio Farm Bureau Tuesday denied "scuttling" the Ohio soybean producers and contended the blame was on "the oleo interests."

D. R. Stanfield, legislative director of the Ohio Farm Bureau answered the demand of David C. Wing, Mechaniesburg, former president of the American Soybean association, for the ouster of Farm Bureau administrative officers.

Stanfield declared: "Oleo manufacturers are raising false hopes among soybean growers in making them believe that a lucrative market exists for their crops in making oleo."

Leftists File New Complaint

CLEVELAND —(INS)— More than 100 leftist leaders of CIO unions have called on CIO President Philip Murray to "restore autonomy and democracy" to affiliated unions under attack by top CIO union officials.

The appeal of the CIO head was made in an open letter to Murray adopted by the union leaders at a conference on "democracy and autonomy" in the CIO, held in Cleveland.

The letter accused Murray and leaders of other unions holding majority control of the CIO executive board and of formulating policy "directly opposed to the democratic principles" on which the movement was founded and serving to split the CIO.

Full Impact of Strikes Near

WHILE strikes in the steel and coal industries have already worked considerable hardships, these are as nothing in comparison with what will happen within the next few weeks unless normal production of steel and coal is resumed.

So many industries require an uninterrupted flow of steel that some are already curtailing operations, with widespread shutdowns in prospect for the almost immediate future.

According to Steel, the national metalworking magazine, full impact of the steel strike will be felt in two or three weeks, adding: "If the walkout lasts that long it will hit the economy with the impact of a Caribbean hurricane.

Lack of coal will also soon become a contributing factor in the shutdown of other industries, as coal stocks generally are not expected to last more than another week or ten days.

If it were not for the frightening aspects of the situation there would be a touch of the ridiculous in the idea that a small group of labor leaders are permitted to exercise dictatorial power over the entire national economy in such a destructive way.

Of timely interest are views expressed by Donald R. Richberg in an article in a recent issue of the Harvard Business Review. Mr. Richberg, well-known lawyer and authority on labor relations who served in a government post under the late President Roosevelt, says in one paragraph of the article: "You ask me, 'Where is organized labor going?'—and I say that it is going to destroy itself and the American way of life if it does not find better guidance than it is getting today from its self-absorbed, short-sighted leaders and the fuzzy-minded intellectuals who call themselves 'liberals' and 'friends of labor'."

This is a thought that should be kept in mind as millions of workers face unemployment because of cut-off of steel and coal supplies due to strikes that should have been avoided.

Columbus Won By Persistence

OTHER DATES may fade from memory as school children grow to maturity but "1492" has been so firmly impressed that it stands out brightly as the year in which Christopher Columbus made the discovery that led to development of the western hemisphere.

It was on October 12 of that year that Columbus and his crew sighted land, and today marks the 457th anniversary of that momentous event.

This hemisphere was inhabited long before that, of course, but Columbus is rightly entitled to credit for the discovery which was followed shortly afterward by voyages of other explorers and eventual establishment of colonies which took on elements of permanence.

One phase in the life and character of Columbus which merits emphasis as today's school children join in paying tribute to his memory is presented in the single word, "persistence", for it was his persistence, in the face of difficulties and discouragement, that brought accomplishment of his aim to reach what was then an unknown land.

Today, as the achievements of Columbus are being recounted, there is the thought that in the United Nations there is another valiant explorer who hopes to find a new world—the world of peace among men.

The question now is, can this idea be so strengthened as to overcome obstacles such as confronted Columbus almost 500 years ago.

It can if enough people care enough to maintain faith in its accomplishment—and to contribute to that accomplishment by the persistence and labor which Columbus devoted to his task.

When Gangs Get Out of Hand

ORGANIZED CRIME is too powerful for city and county governments, says the American Municipal Association. Crime rings are no longer groups of local gangsters, but big-time operators whose forces of evil may cover several states. It is said that the current racket head in New York was a powerful figure in New Orleans in the days of Huey Long.

Chicagoans say also that the gamblers control 200,000 votes, which would easily turn the scales in nine out of ten local elections. It is suggested that only the strong arm of federal government can cope with such hosts. When Chicago failed to master Al Capone, Uncle Sam stepped in with charges of income tax evasion, and ended that racketeer's career.

Most Americans are rather cool to the idea of a federal police force which would intervene in local crime waves. But if the counties and cities are not masters in their own homes, and the states cannot help, nothing is left but Washington. Uncle Sam should not be accused of grasping for more power when he merely moves in where local officials have moved out.

Giving Up Bitter Symbols

THE PROPOSAL that the United States return to Mexico the flags, standards, colors and emblems captured in the Mexican War has been made by Senator Tom Connally of Texas. This would be not only a magnificent gesture, but also a positive act of enlightened realism in international relations.

The captured banners of war, in after years, are reminders of the bitterness and passions of war. It would be far better, in these days, to give up the symbols of victory in war and collect in their stead symbols of peaceful friendship.

COLUMBUS IN CHAINS—An Ungrateful World's Reward

His weary eyes looked down upon the chain
Which fettered both strong ankles of the man
Who lately had been viceroy for proud Spain
In all West India's fertile island span.
His agile mind leaped back to that bright day
When rich Castilian princes vied and bid
For just a chance to see him lead the way
Along the crowd-swathed streets of gay Madrid,
With gold and cotton, with long-plumaged birds
And painted savages to be baptized.
So this was all that came of their fine words!
Well, let the scheming courtiers be apprised:
"No chain has yet been forged which can repress
A faith that pierced the ocean's wilderness."

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

WHAT'S best for the Ohio farmer? Ohio is a great farm state, the fifth in the nation. The value of its farm products exceeds each year the huge sum of one billion dollars. It is the greatest single Ohio industry. What kind of an agricultural policy will keep the Ohio farmer active and prosperous, and feed the people of Ohio?

America has the highest standard of living today of any other country in the history of the world, because it has the highest production and the highest productivity per person employed. It seems to me that the long-range solution for the farmer must be the same as it is for the industrialist and the workman — greater productivity, higher total production, and an adequate market for his products.

Of course, the farmer must not push his current production to the point where it depletes the soil and interferes with long-term production. Hence, his first concern must be the adoption of soil conservation methods so well advocated by the Soil Conservation Service.

But how does he find the markets for increased production? First, he must sell more abroad. Second, we have laboratories trying to find more industrial uses for agricultural products, the science of chemurgy. Third, it ought to be possible to educate the American people to eat more animal products, that is, dairy products, pork, beef, poultry, and eggs.

Such food is more tasty. It gives a better diet. If the consumption of animal products in this country could be increased 5 per cent, the animals necessary would soon consume the surpluses of grain.

* * *

WHAT about price support? In 1948 Congress passed the Aiken price support bill on the recommendation of the Farm Bureau, the Grange, and many agricultural experts. It was testified for by Mr. Brannan, it was signed with approval by Mr. Truman, but, because the support figure was lower than 90 per cent, they promptly made a political issue of it against the Republicans in 1948.

After the election, Mr. Brannan brought in his plan for a government guarantee of 100 per cent of parity. Both House and Senate have rejected it. It is too obviously fallacious to pay the farmer the price he would like to receive, then turn around and sell to the consumer at the prices he would like to pay, and charge the difference to the taxpayer. Who is the taxpayer except the farmer and the consumer?

I believe that a moderate price-support program of a flexible type is justified first, to achieve something like equality for the farmer by protecting him against the free and fluctuating market in which he has to sell, as compared to the relatively stable variations in the price of manufactured products.

More important, if we want to keep a recession from developing into a serious depression, we had better put a floor under farm prices. If there is a complete destruction of agricultural purchasing power resulting from a slight increase in supply and a slight decrease in demand it will cause a rapid downward spiral movement into a dangerous depression like that we had in 1933.

* * *

BUT the difficulty with any high rigid price-support plan is that it compels the imposition of production controls. If the Brannan plan were carried out to its full implication, the government would soon have to tell every farmer how much wheat he can plant, how much corn he can plant, how many hogs he can raise, how many cattle he can feed, and how much he can feed his chickens for the production of eggs.

The Ohio farmer has never liked controls of any kind. No Washington bureau can tell an Ohio farmer how to run his farm as well as he can run it himself.

The Brannan plan would force a return to scarcity. The Ohio farmer, like every other American citizen, in the long run can only achieve a higher standard of personal living and greater prosperity through higher production and an economy of abundance.

The Nation Today

Railroad Retirement

BY HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON — Possible expansion of the federal government's social security system may mean new agitation by approximately 1,800,000 railroad workers to boost their old age pension, too.

The railroaders have had a more liberal—though costlier—program since August 29, 1937, when Congress enacted a special railroad retirement act. They have been talking lately about bettering it.

The demand is not immediate, however, like the jousting of Philip Murray, John L. Lewis, and Walter Reuther for new or bigger pensions from the steel, coal and auto industries.

The House, by a vote of 333-14, decided last week to bring another 11,000,000 workers under the federal system and to hike the payments for an elderly couple from around $85 to $126 a month. All benefits would be upped 70 or 80 per cent, according to House estimates. The Senate is expected to act on the measure after next January.

Under the railroad act the worker who has earned $300 a month for 30 years can retire at age 65 with $144 a month. That's tops for a single person. If he is married and has dependents, the amount would be even greater. The old age pensions from the railroad fund actually are averaging about $84 a month.

That compared with approximately $26 a month on the average for those retiring under the federal system. (The proposed new act would increase the average to about $45.)

There are many reasons for the wide difference between the federal and the railroad benefits.

* * *

Differences Explained.

PRINCIPALLY, it is because the railroad system blanketed in all the prior service of employes before August 29, 1937. Without contributing any money toward those extra benefits, the railroader gets credit for the years he spent in the service of any rail carrier before that date.

The federal system, which now covers about 35,000,000 employes outside the railroads and other excluded occupations, began with the Social Security Act of August 14, 1935. Old age pension credit began January, 1936.

Just as the benefits are higher, the payroll tax is higher on the railroad. Instead of the 1 per cent payroll tax paid by workers and employers to the federal old age insurance system, the railroad worker pays 6 per cent of the first $300 a month of his salary or wage. The railroad employer pays an equal amount.

Besides the old age payments, the railroad system provides income in case of disability. The House-approved legislation would incorporate some of those features in the federal system.

Under the rail plan, the worker may retire at 65 with full benefits. Or he may continue to work, if he wants, but he must pass physical tests depending on the type of work he does. If he wants to retire at 60, he may do that, but at reduced pension.

The principal advocates of the railroad system say it is different from the federal plan also in that it is "actuarially sound." They mean that as the worker's interest in the fund increases, the credit with which to pay his pension also increases.

Some critics say the government merely places an I.O.U. in the railroad retirement trust fund, and uses the money as it needs it. In a way, that's correct, the experts say, but the I.O.U.'s the government leaves in the till are special-issue U.S. treasury bonds, paying 3 per cent interest.

Kilday Advises Constructive Criticism

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The public now knows what happened when Admiral Arthur Radford testified at an open session of the House armed services committee. But they don't know what happened at the closed-door session which preceded his testimony.

After Admiral Radford read his confidential statement—later repeated in the open session—of gripes against the Air Force and Defense Secretary Louis Johnson, Congressman Paul Kilday of Texas remarked to him:

"Admiral, I am disappointed that you did not come here with an affirmative statement of what the Navy can do, instead of a criticism of what the Air Force can do."

"I'm just the leadoff man," replied Radford. "Later on we'll have some witnesses on the affirmative side."

"That's my point," shot back Kilday. "The Navy has chosen to lead off by criticizing the other fellow, instead of telling us what the Navy can do and how much you need in surface ships, submarines and air power.

"It's obvious to me that you want to promote all this discord, which must be of no little comfort to a potential enemy. I'm for ending it right here and now, without letting this committee be used to carry on such bickering at an open hearing."

Secretary of the Navy Matthews didn't open his mouth until after the committee overrode Kilday's protests and voted 9 to 6 to give the admirals an open hearing. Then he remarked to Chairman Carl Vinson of Georgia, who sided with the admirals: "The responsibility is now yours."

"Mr. Secretary," interposed Kilday, "you might as well cancel out your court-martial of Captain Crommelin. He is not promoting discord any longer. This committee has taken over for him after the vote today."

* * *

Germany Is Still Nazi.

JUST back from Germany, Senator Lester Hunt of Wyoming warns that it will take an army of educators following up the army of occupation to defeat nazism of Germany.

"There is no such thing as denazifying a nazi," the Wyoming Democrat insists.

The only solution, Hunt believes, is to place an American superintendent or principal over every German school and an American president over every German university. "It would cost us less," he promises, "than the first month of World War III."

* * *

Free Air Ride.

THE Democrats were tipped off that this columnist was checking on what air force planes might fly to Kansas City for Bill Boyle's big home-coming jamboree. Possibly this had something to do with the fact that not a single air force plane made the trip.

However, a few high officials still got a free ride—in a plush, private plane owned by Phillips Petroleum company. This plane was put at the disposal of the Democratic national committee by Phillips' chief lobbyist, R. C. Joplin, and its free passengers included Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, U. S. Treasurer Georgia Neese Clark and Assistant Secretary of Commerce Tom Davis. The plane also stopped in St. Louis to pick up vice president Barkley who had been courtin'.

After the party, Phillips Petroleum flew Barkley and Tobin back to Washington, then the plane returned to its home base in Oklahoma.

Note—The oil companies have been lobbying for control of tidelands oil and against Leland Olds' confirmation to the federal power commission. But if Mr. Joplin was in a mood to lobby, he didn't get a chance with Vice President Barkley. For the VP slept both ways.

Japanese Competition.

WHILE the state department plans to lower tariffs, a New England manufacturer is getting ready to put the blast on General Douglas MacArthur for encouraging Japanese production of cheap, competitive goods for the American market.

He is Alfred F. Reilly of Providence, R. I., president of Evans Case company, biggest U. S. producer of cigaret lighters. Reilly will demand a congressional investigation of MacArthur on the ground that he is using U. S. taxpayers money to build Jap industries at the expense of American business and labor.

Reilly will charge that MacArthur has encouraged Jap production of cheap cigaret lighters to a point where American manufacturers are in serious jeopardy.

The Japanese, he says, have made exact models of the Evans, Ronson and other American lighters, using a copper mold, thus saving research, tool and die designing, and other costs American companies have had to pay.

They now plan to go into large-scale production, using inferior materials and cheap labor, unless Congress blows the whistle on MacArthur.

Formula For Prosperity

By INEZ ROBB

MONTREUX, Switzerland — All Swiss cities are located on beautiful lakes and Montreux is no exception. And there is a standard guarantee in all Swiss hotels that the visitor, on a clear day, can see either the Matterhorn or the Jungfrau from his windows, or his money back.

I have such a magnificent hunk of Alps in my lap tonight that I think the Matterhorn and Jungfrau must have gotten together in recent weeks.

Montreux is one of those Swiss retreats in which the diplomats of other nations are always gathering to sign peace treaties. As I drove through this picture post-card country today, I tried to remember what great peace treaty had been signed in Montreux.

So when I arrived at the hotel this evening, I asked the manager what peace treaty had been written here.

"Which one do you mean, madame?" he asked. "Could you be more specific? What did you have in mind?"

When Swiss hotels are not filled with diplomats from other countries making peace after wars in which the Swiss had no part, they are jammed with delegates to international conventions. At the moment, Switzerland is so full of international conventions that the ordinary tourist has his work cut out to find a hotel room.

We had to leave Geneva today because the town has been sold out for months to three big international conventions. I have a nasty suspicion that people organize international conventions just so they can get to Switzerland, where every prospect pleases and even man doesn't seem to be as vile as the poet says.

There is no food rationing of any kind in this land of milk and honey. But there is a small fly in the ointment. Like every other nation in the western world, Switzerland is suffering from a housing shortage.

Housing and rental controls are almost identical with those in force in America. Refugees from all over Europe poured into Switzerland during the war, as they did into the United States, and the housing shortage, which still persists, grew by leaps and bounds.

* * *

Prosper Through Thrift.

ANY American who drives through Switzerland cannot help but be impressed with the intensive cultivation of every scrap, every inch of land, on which anything can be grown. No plot is too small for loving cultivation.

I saw terraced fields and vineyards today so steep and lofty that farmers must surely wear full mountain climbing equipment and rope themselves together when they go out to tend their acres.

Tillable land is precious in this miniature country of 4,000,000 citizens. Even a terrace, half way up an Alp, built with infinite skill and patience, and only wide enough for one or two rows of wine grapes, is worth all the time and hard labor such building and cultivation requires.

It is not enough for an orchard to produce good fruit. Between the rows of trees, it must also produce good vegetables, hay, sugar beets or grapes.

I have yet to meet a yodeller. But the chalets, covered with flower boxes in full autumn bloom, the sweet tone o. the bells on the placid, cream-colored Swiss cattle, and the high upland meadows filled with autumn crocus are clearly up to specifications.

Everything about Switzerland looks prosperous, the farms, the chalets and the people. This is the only European country I have struck so far in which an American can leave his hotel without being surrounded by furtive characters who tug at the coat tail and whisper "I geeve best price for Americaine dollaires."

The American dollar will buy 4.5 Swiss francs. No more, no less. And it will do the American visitor no good to go out, tug at a Swiss coat tail and whisper "I geeve best price for Swiss franc."

When I get back to the United States, I am thinking of organizing a "Be Kind To Switzerland Week." I have a hunch that the time may come when Uncle Sam will have to borrow money, and Switzerland will be the only nation with nuggets in its poke.

Dave Boone Says:

I SAW a fellow making for the hills in a high state of panic last night, yelling "All is lost!" it seems he had been frightened by his own admirals.

You couldn't blame him much. It looks to me like the Navy had developed two new weapons—the vest-pocket tomahawk and the atomic hatchet.

* * *

When our fighting men get to fighting each other over how to fight the enemy it's pretty disconcerting. I hope we are keeping a spare Navy warming up in the bullpen just in case this one weakens.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THE Medical Association says the attorney general is investigating doctors . . . probably on a tip they have a monopoly on sick calls.

* * *

But if the medical profession is a monopoly, the stork had better start sharing his secrets with a few pigeons before they go after him!

* * *

They could throw the book at him. Low flying, carrying passengers without a license, engaging in interstate commerce without an inspection permit, making deliveries after hours, complete control of the product. . . .

* * *

They want to fix it so that our common government can take care of the common man's common cold in an uncommon way.

* * *

But that raises a question. If Mayo brothers can't isolate the cold germ can the patronage brothers?

Still the British system has worked out well. The government not only takes care of people when they're ill, at times it also makes them ill.

Timely Editorial

To Retain Bonnets.

A lot of sentimental folk, who like the old things best, will be cheered by word that the famous old poke bonnet of the Salvation Army lassie will not give way to any new look. National commanders both in England and this country agree on that.

"The bonnet has too strong a place in the memory and affection of both the Salvationists and the people of the world for it to be laid aside in favor of any current trends in headdress fashions. It has a timeless look," they said.

The commanders were not just talking through their hats.

The story of a forthcoming change probably was stirred because on a few assignments the lassies have been permitted to wear dark blue felt hats.—Cleveland Press.

As Others See It

Well-Trained Town.

As far as we know, the town of Burke (population 800) in the mining region of Northern Idaho, is the only place in the United States where the storekeepers have to roll up their awnings when the train comes in. The town lies on a narrow canyon floor and the railroad tracks run right down the main street. There's so little clearance that all awnings have to be reefed tightly at train time. Trains also go through the Tiger hotel which has been built over the tracks. One nice thing: you can't get lost in Burke. That street is the only one in town. —This Week

One Wife's To Be the Limit

Ben Gurion To Ban Palestine Polygamy

By JAMES M. LONG

TEL AVIV — (AP) — Polygamy is about to be banned from Israel for the first time in the long history of the holy land.

Prime Minister David Ben Gurion announced he would call for revision of the marriage law at the next sessions of the Jewish parliament, two of whose members themselves have more than one wife.

There is expected to be no real opposition to the change, which would apply equally to Jews and Moslems.

Ben Gurion gave his reasons as social modernization, and the establishment of more uniform domestic social conditions.

"The law is not directed against Islam," he said. "Islam permits Moslems to take four wives — but it does not require them to do so."

Probably not more than five per cent of the adult male population of Israel has more than one wife. Most of these are Moslem Arabs — as polygamy is not permitted among Christian Arabs.

Two groups of Jews permit polygamous marriage. These are Yemenite, or Asiatic Jews; and Sephardi, or Mediterranean Jews.

But the practice has diminished in recent generations until even among these groups only a small minority has more than one wife.

The famous ban of Rabbi Gershon, in 1040, ended polygamy among the European Jews.

In the Israeli legislature one Sephardi delegate and one Yemenite have two wives each. All but one of the Arab legislators are Christians; the one Moslem is unmarried.

The principal problem the legislature will face in drawing the new will be how to arrange a transition period in making it fully effective; whether to abolish existing polygamous marriages, or whether to make the law applicable only to marriages from now on.

Until 1936 there never had been any law in Palestine against polygamy. Before that had been the days when Solomon had a thousand wives; the days of Moslem rule; the days under the old Turkish laws.

In 1936 the British mandatory authority banned polygamy — but left a loophole. The law was not effective for individuals whose personal status or religious laws allowed plural marriage. That applied to Moslems, and the two classes of Jews.

Pieck Heads Reich State

BERLIN—(INS)—Veteran communist leader Wilhelm Pieck was elected president of the Soviet-dominated East German republic today. The formal announcement said Pieck was elected by "acclamation."

Pieck, a leader in the German communist party since it was founded in 1919, spent the war in Moscow and returned to Germany when the red army defeated the Nazis in the east in 1945.

Otto Grohenwohl, another communist chief, previously was named minister - president, or premier.

Pieck, 73, was elected by the so-called "people's parliament" —the self-constituted congress ruling the East German state which was accorded full diplomatic recognition last night by the Russians.

Yugoslavs Hurl Charge of Murder

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — (AP) —Yugoslavia charged Tuesday Albanian soldiers "shot in the back and killed" one of Premier-Marshal Tito's border patrolmen four days ago.

The ministry of foreign affairs sent a note to Albania saying the slaying was committed from ambush. "This criminal murder, intentionally committed, brings to light the non-peace-loving and hostile character of the Albanian government," the note said.

Court Dismisses Anti-Trust Suit

TOLEDO — (INS) — A 15-million-dollar anti-trust suit brought in 1942 against the Owens-Illinois Glass company of Toledo and four other concerns was dismissed Monday by the Supreme Court.

Fred E. Culler, general counsel for Owens-Corning, said the court refused to grant a petition by the plaintiff, the Turner Glass company of Muncie, Ind., to review the findings of lower courts.

Miss Roma Farst Becomes Bride of Earl Gatton

BELLVILLE — Miss Roma Jean Farst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Farst, 12 Huron street, Bellville, became the bride, on Oct. 9 of James Whittier Gatton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Gatton, R. D. 1, Bellville.

The scene of the nuptials was the Bellville Methodist church at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. John Pfhaler solemnized the double ring ceremony. The custom of open church was observed.

Miss Martha Palm presided at the organ for the nuptial music. Donald Palm served as soloist. Palms, ferns, beauty baskets and candelabra decorated the altar of the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper satin bridal gown fashioned with a lace Peter Pan collar and lace yoke. Tiny self-covered buttons further trimmed the yoke. The long sleeves ended in points over her wrists. The gown extended into a full train.

For her headpiece the bride wore a dutch style finger-tip length veil made of starched lace. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible from which cascaded silver and white ribbons.

Miss Donna Farst, sister of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid in a pink taffeta faille gown. Matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Heichel another sister, who was attired in a grey gown. Miss Janet Reel, a close friend of the bride, served as bridesmaid in an aqua taffeta faille gown.

All the attendants carried colonial style bouquets and wore headpieces of shattered carnations and mums.

The bride's mother chose a copper colored crepe suit for her daughter's wedding. She wore a yellow rosebud corsage. The bridegroom's mother selected a black faille suit, with which she wore a pink rose corsage.

Jack Gatton, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. Robert Heichel, the brides' brother-in-law, Jerry Gatton, the bridegroom's brother; Eugene Robinson, of Lucas, the bridegroom's brother-in-law; and Van Ross Wade, the bridegroom's cousin, escorted guests to their pews.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. Beauty baskets decorated the home. The bridal table was centered with a pink and white wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For traveling to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a forest green gabardine suit with copper colored accessories. Upon their return the couple will reside on Main street in Bellville.

Mrs. Gatton is a graduate of Bellville high school with the class of 1949. Mr. Gatton is a graduate of the same class. Mrs. Gatton is employed at Myers Furniture store. Her husband is employed as a landscaper at the Wade and Gatton nursery in Bellville.

Out-of-town guests were present for the nuptials from Mansfield, Huntington, Ind., Columbus, Lexington, Butler, Perrysville and Little Washington.

AAUW MEMBERS, GUESTS HEAR NATIVE INDIAN TALK

Fall "Mixer" Dinner Party Held Tuesday Evening At Westbrook Country Club by Local Chapter

BY JOAN SCHWEITZ

Suraj Bahadur, a native of Lahore, India, and friend to Indian political leaders, was guest speaker last evening at a dinner meeting at Westbrook Country Club for the Mansfield branch of the American Association of University Women, their husbands and guests.

The young Indian, who has studied in this country, both at Northwestern and Ohio State universities, told the audience of more than 100, of the present trends and tensions in his native land.

To acquaint his listeners with the subject, he dwelled briefly on the ancient history of India and told of his ancestors who 4,000 years ago, conquered the Mongolian tribes in India and instituted the caste system by subduing the Mongolians.

Bahadur explained that the caste system had some benefits but outlived its usefulness in the early twentieth century. He said that today, the modern generation accepts "untouchables" as marriage mates and friends but the older generation, the fathers and grandfathers of Bahadur's generation, still withhold approval.

Today, "India is striving for individual liberty and collective responsibility, syste. s for which the United States is our model," explained the speaker.

The economic status of the country cannot be improved, said Bahadur, until education is compulsory and the economic wealth of India stays in India, instead of being exported to other countries as raw material.

Education is already compulsory in three provinces, however India has a great need for teachers.

"Communism can be combated in India, by giving the people the things Communism promises but never makes true once it has established itself in a country," Bahadur said. He continued, "Our ideologies are closely allied to those of the West. Our constitution was derived from both the American and Irish constitutions."

In ridding India of its vast slums, the speaker said that water power was being harnessed, irrigation becoming more and more practical and the scientists were studying the possibilities of deverting rivers so that unproductive areas can be made fertile again. In this way, he said, "The slum areas can be decentralized and the poor can produce food."

Mrs. Dan Haber was program chairman, for the evening. Mrs. Virt Simpson, took charge of reservations and Mrs. John Cook conducted social hour which followed the dinner and program.

Miss Frances Randall, president presided for the short business meeting preceding the dinner.

Miss Eva Welday favored the group with two violin selections, accompanied by Miss Mercedes Blue.

The next meeting will be a "Fireside Chat and Musicale" at the home of Mrs. W. J. Bissman, 563 Russell road, at 8 o'clock, Nov. 1. Mrs. R. C. Marks is in charge of reservations. Mrs. Marion Uhl is chairman of the affair.

A most interesting and informative paper on "Tucking in Our Gardens" was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Henry Paulsen at the program meeting of the Linnaeus Garden club. Mrs. Marion Brinkerhoff, Penn avenue, entertained 14 members for a 1 o'clock luncheon. The long table was centered with an attractive arrangement of nasturiums.

Mrs. Paulsen spoke particularly of the broad leaf evergreen, saying "They should be well protected in the winter. Fall is the best time for putting lime on your flower gardens," she stated.

Later she led a round table discussion on herbs.

Mrs. Fred Dippman reported on the meeting of the Garden Club of Ohio held in Ashland recently. Mrs. Earl Schuler read a poem, "Autumn Days," by Lloyd Barr, the husband of a member of the club. The business session was conducted by Mrs. Charles Payne.

The next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 25 with Mrs. Charles Chew, 610 Highland avenue.

Mrs. Jack Shafer, president, announced that the Mexican containers at the Children's Home would be refilled by the club, as one of their project. Mrs. Russell Dalenberg, Mrs. John Waldman and Mrs. J. H. Herring are in charge of the project.

Mrs. William Betts had the flower arrangement for the evening. She used leaves and milk weed pods. For the program, Mrs. Dale Bryan reviewed the first two chapters of the book, "Flower Arrangements." The club will study this year.

For Thursday, October 13

Major deals and plans of more than ordinary importance are due to move forward in a big way, and with surprising denouements under excellent planetary encouragement. Not only may cooperation from influential sources be counted upon, but there is an element of the subtle, crafty or intriguing to be used with prudence and sound purpose. It is a wrong conclusion, or some stubborn impediment could slow down operations when at their climax. Health or nervous fatigue may have to be reckoned with. Use charm or finesse, not force.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the brink of excellent achievement, its sagacity, shrewdness, intuition or other subtleties may attract concrete cooperation from those in high station. Cultivate these by use of charm, astuteness rather than forced issues, which might have unhappy reactions of the health or slacken the energies. Take it easy in favor of finer forces, especially when crafty or intriguing factors are at work.

Pandit Nehru Seen Aid to West In Cold War

Top Indian Official Visits U. S.

Powerful Asiatic Figure On Tour

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India set out today on a strenuous get-acquainted tour of the United States. American officials hope it will help make India incline more strongly toward the west in the cold war with Russia.

Nehru is a hero of his country's fight for freedom and probably the outstanding figure in Asia. He was greeted personally by President Truman on his arrival late yesterday for a state visit of nearly a month. Last night he was Mr. Truman's guest at a formal dinner at Blair house.

A visit to Mount Vernon and the tomb of the Unknown Soldier were on the prime minister's schedule today. This will be followed by two more days of sightseeing, speeches and handshaking in the capital before he leaves Saturday for New York and a transcontinental tour.

It is Nehru's first visit to the United States, of which he has been critical at times, partly on the score of American race relations.

A moderate socialist who heads India's majority congress party, he also has expressed doubts in the past of the virtues of American style capitalism.

Some of his ideas on these points may be changed, officials hoped, if he carries out his plans to talk to businessmen as well as politicians and people in all forms of activity.

What is most important from the American official viewpoint is Nehru's attitude toward the cold war, from which he has sought to keep aloof through hostile to communism in his own country.

India with its 300,000,000 population, natural resources and geographical position is in a vital spot at the moment. The U.S. would like to see its leaders and the commonwealth government take a more definite role in blocking the advance of communism.

HOT STUFF—Perma Mold diecaster Arthur R. Onler, 33 East Raleigh avenue, is pouring the white hot liquid used in making new type castings. Recently introduced in the United States, these castings require no finishing and thereby cut down on manufacturer's costs. They have been used extensively in England for the last 30 years.

★ ★ ★

New Process Eliminates Need For 'Finishing' of Molds

Employing new techniques in the part of permanent mold casting, Non-Ferrous Perma Mold, incorporation, one of Mansfield's newest industries, is one of a few of its kind in the United States.

The new company is owned jointly by Barnes Manufacturing company and the Non-Ferrous Die Casting company, Ltd., of London, England. It specializes in the production of precision castings.

Common in England, the castings are turned out as a complete product requiring no finishing. This process eliminates the time and cost of finishing sandcast moldings which are now in use in the United States.

Headed by G. K. Eggleston, vice-president in charge of manufacturing, the new company has a number of special technicians from England who are setting up production. General sales manager for the corporation is S. E. Gregory, associated for 12 years with the London firm.

In England, the volume of castings produced by this method is more than 134 million pounds per year. It has been in use for more than 30 years in the British Isles.

At present, the Mansfield firm employs eight trained men in the foundry. Immediate plans call for a night shift of seven more men as soon as they can be trained.

"We are operating at a minimum now," Gregory stated, "because of the lack of trained personnel. However, within 18 to 24 months we will equal the British production of 134 million pounds a year."

"We are still in the process of organizing. Our dies are coming from England and when the last of them arrive we will be ready to operate on full scale," he concluded.

Still Taking Enrollments

There are still several places open for enrollment in the evening trade extension classes at Senior high school, V. H. Oberlander, director of the classes said today.

Classes will include machine shop, automotive practice, electric shop, blue print reading and mathematics. A 12-week course is offered, to all those who enroll, Oberlander said.

Students who have not already enrolled may sign up at the opening of the course next monday evening in the basement of Senior high school. Although there are still several places open, the enrollment is limited to a specific number, Oberlander said.

Ohioans Elected

WASHINGTON — (AP) — John S. Moore jr., managing editor, and James F. Carroll, associate editor of the Dayton Journal-Herald, yesterday were among 18 persons elected to the board of directors of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Extra Bar Costs More

Ohio tavernkeepers having more than "two fixed bars or counters" will be required to pay an additional permit fee for each, Francis K. Cole, chief of the liquor department's permit division, announced yesterday.

"Last month our permit examiners began a survey of all licensed places in the state to locate all those who will be affected and their reports are in," Cole said.

Meanwhile the department's enforcement department announced it had made one raid in Richland county in September.

The raid resulted in the arrest of John McNeal, operator of The Pines, establishment located near Mansfield on U. S. Route 30-S.

McNeal's attorney has asked for a trial by jury and no date has been set for the case which will be heard in municipal court.

Will Discuss Flavor

A topic of interest to housewives and those concerned with the handling and preparation of foods, will be discussed Oct. 18 at the Ohio hotel in Wooster when Dr. E. C. Crocker speaks on "The Chemistry of Odors and Flavors" before the Wooster section of the American Chemical society. The public is invited.

TRIBE ELECTS

Edward L. O'Brien is new chief of the Chippewa tribe, YMCA Indian Guide tribes, it was reported today. Other officers are, Virt Simpson, wampum bearer and Harry Frietchen, tally keeper.

Choose 1913 Car for Trip

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Marcus of Dayton are on their way to Oregon today on their honeymoon in an ancient roadster.

The body is a 1913 model, but the chassis and engine were built in 1929. Modern tires and shock absorbers were added.

Marcus, a tavern operator, said they planned to visit an aunt in Oregon.

Marcus, 36, and the former Kathleen Schweitzer, 30, were married in northern Kentucky.

For Thursday, October 13

Major deals and plans of more than ordinary importance are due to move forward in a big way, and with surprising denouements under excellent planetary encouragement. Not only may cooperation from influential sources be counted upon, but there is an element of the subtle, crafty or intriguing to be used with prudence and sound purpose. It is a wrong conclusion, or some stubborn impediment could slow down operations when at their climax. Health or nervous fatigue may have to be reckoned with. Use charm or finesse, not force.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the brink of excellent achievement, its sagacity, shrewdness, intuition or other subtleties may attract concrete cooperation from those in high station. Cultivate these by use of charm, astuteness rather than forced issues, which might have unhappy reactions of the health or slacken the energies. Take it easy in favor of finer forces, especially when crafty or intriguing factors are at work.

Pandit Nehru Seen Aid to West In Cold War

Top Indian Official Visits U. S.

Powerful Asiatic Figure On Tour

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India set out today on a strenuous get-acquainted tour of the United States. American officials hope it will held make India incline more strongly toward the west in the cold war with Russia.

Nehru is a hero of his country's fight for freedom and probably the outstanding figure in Asia. He was greeted personally by President Truman on his arrival late yesterday for a state visit of nearly a month. Last night he was Mr. Truman's guest at a formal dinner at Blair house.

A visit to Mount Vernon and the tomb of the Unknown Soldier were on the prime minister's schedule today. This will be followed by two more days of sightseeing, speeches and handshaking in the capital before he leaves Saturday for New York and a transcontinental tour.

It is Nehru's first visit to the United States, of which he has been critical at times, partly on the score of American race relations.

A moderate socialist who heads India's majority congress party, he also has expressed doubts in the past of the virtues of American style capitalism.

Some of his ideas on these points may be changed, officials hoped, if he carries out his plans to talk to businessmen as well as politicians and people in all forms of activity.

What is most important from the American official viewpoint is Nehru's attitude toward the cold war, from which he has sought to keep aloof through hostile to communism in his own country.

India with its 300,000,000 population, natural resources and geographical position is in a vital spot at the moment. The U S would like to see its leaders and the commonwealth government take a more definite role in blocking the advance of communism.

HOT STUFF—Perma Mold diecaster Arthur R. Onler, 33 East Raleigh avenue, is pouring the white hot liquid used in making new type castings. Recently introduced in the United States, these castings require no finishing and thereby cut down on manufacturer's costs. They have been used extensively in England for the last 30 years.

★ ★ ★

New Process Eliminates Need For 'Finishing' of Molds

Employing new techniques in the part of permanent mold casting, Non-Ferrous Perma Mold, incorporation. one of Mansfield's newest industries, is one of a few of its kind in the United States.

The new company is owned jointly by Barnes Manufacturing company and the Non-Ferrous Die Casting company, Ltd., of London, England. It specializes in the production of precision castings.

Common in England. the castings are turned out as a complete product requiring no finishing. This process eliminates the time and cost of finishing sandcast moldings which are now in use in the United States.

Headed by G. K. Eggleston, vice-president in charge of manufacturing, the new company has a number of special technicians from England who are setting up production General sales manager for the corporation is S. E. Gregory, associated for 12 years with the London firm.

In England the volume of castings produced by this method is more than 134 million pounds per year It has been in use for more than 30 years in the British Isles.

At present, the Mansfield firm employs eight trained men in the foundry. Immediate plans call for a night shift of seven more men as soon as they can be trained.

"We are operating at a minimum now." Gregory stated, "because of the lack of trained personnel. However, within 18 to 24 months we will equal the British production of 134 million pounds a year."

"We are still in the process of organizing Our dies are coming from England and when the last of them arrive we will be ready to operate on full scale," he concluded.

Ohio tavernkeepers having more than "two fixed bars or counters" will be required to pay an additional permit fee for each, Francis K Cole chief of the liquor department's permit division, announced yesterday.

"Last month our permit examiners began a survey of all licensed places in the state to locate all those who will be affected and their reports are in," Cole said.

Meanwhile the department's enforcement department announced it had made one raid in Richland county in September.

The raid resulted in the arrest of John McNeal, operator of The Pines, establishment located near Mansfield on U. S Route 30-S.

Odd and Humorous Notes Gleaned From the Heart of New York City

The Grand Central Station organist is permitted to play anything she likes except the National Anthem. (You might miss your train) . . . The elevators in the RCA bldg. travel so fast they take six floors to start and as many to stop.

The reason Harlem's swank sector is named "Sugar Hill" is that "it takes a lotta sugar" to live there . . . Most hamlets in the U. S. have only one traffic cop. Our town has 2,000 . . . Half the population of Deadwood, South Dakota, can be accommodated on the 86th floor of the Empire State Bldg. (Room for a couple of thousand) 42nd Street was originally a dusty cowpath. It was sold to the city in 1825 by a farmer for $10. (Worth 100 million now).

For some strange reason the top selling NYC souvenir item is a cowboy on a horse. . . . We have a cop on duty 24 hours a day in the heart of Times Sq. to answer anything you want to know about B'way . . . The Stork Club cash register rings up over $2000 before any of its competitors even open their doors.

Jerome Park is named for the father of Winston Churchill's mother. She was Brooklyn-born Jennie Jerome. . .Our tugboats don't look impressive, but you could buy a yacht for the price of a tug: Over $150,000.

Many Wall Streeters call the famed street: "The Big Toe". . . Mark Twain dreamed up many of his stories in the charming mansion on 5th Avenue and 9th Street. . . Some of the homes along Grove Street are over 150 years old . . Almond-eyed American youngsters are taught Chinese at the Chinatown school. That sector has 5 daily newspapers.

Old-fashioned pot-bellied stoves still head 3rd Avenue "L" stations. . .Coney Island is where the first white men landed on this continent.

Most people are too busy to notice the grand mural in the RCA lobby. It depicts the abolition of slavery. . .Our Burg has over 600 streets. . .The dirtiest of the brick buildings in midtown is the Metropolitan Opera House. Looks like an ancient fort.

The Museum of Art's rear facade is constructed of glass. It is at its scenic best when reflections of the sun ignite rainbows on the panes. . .Famed St. Anne's Church (for deaf mutes) is where the sermons are delivered in finger language.

* * *

We have more than 3,000 places of worship. . .The Waldorf's most swanky suite is only $75 a day. . .There's nothing white in the Great White Way. All the electric signs and neons are yellow' red, green, blue, orange and purple.

The odd monicker of the New Yorker buried at 2nd Street's Marble Cemetery. His name is Mr. Preserved Fish. . .The reason the Rockefeller Plaza garden is green all year 'round: Decorated with evergreens.

St. Patrick's Cathedral is large enough to hold 18,000 worshippers. . .The Mayor's boarding house (Gracie Mansion) was once the country villa of zillionaire John Jacob Astor. . .The Public Library at 42nd and 5th has almost 4 million tomes. You can get the one you want in 5 minutes.

Our police horses are chauffeured to work in a special van. They are selected with as much care as cops. Must pass still physical and mental exams.

Modern Girls Want To Act Like Men, Yet Be Treated Like Women

NEW YORK—This has been called the century of the common man.

It could be termed with more truth the century of comman woman, except that you'd better be smiling with all 32 teeth, pardner, when you say that. For no lady, no matter how shrilly she presses her campaign for equal rights, wants that word common applied to her sex—and to her that seems only like commonsense.

Perhaps we could better call this "the century of the Miss and the Mrs. instead of the Mr."

The latest victory of the powderpuff battalions is the decision of the Harvard law school to admit women to its classes. For 132 years only men boned up on Blackstone in this sanctuary by the Charles. Its breaching now by the female bluestockings comes as a sour surprise, indeed, to many oldtimers.

"Aren't there already enough women laying down the law to men?" they cry.

The truth is the average man today is just a dazed victim of the feminine equal rights campaign. He is living in a shakedown period in a new war between the sexes. For many women scream for more rights with one breath, and clamor for their ancient privileges with the next.

They insist they no longer have to ride a horse or a barstool sidesaddle, but they eye-dagger a forgetful male in an elevator because he won't drop his packages and take off his hat in their honor. In the saloons they call for the television program they want, but it's the gent with them who picks up the tab when the martinis are all in.

★

Man must still fetch and carry for them as of old. They will knock out his vote at the polls, compete with him for his job. Yet let Jim object if a lady shoves him away from his strap-hanging hold in a crowded subway and she hollers, "Help! Help! A wolf! !"

Of course, they all aren't like this. Some gals still only want to boss in the house. Others just demand an equal chance at the office. But many, many modern females play both ends against the middle. They want to act like men and be treated like women.

Naturally, the ordinary man thinks this is a little unfair of the fairer sex. He'd like either to deal with a lady as a lady, or have the present code of ethics and etiquette modified to allow him to belt a presumptuous female with a baseball bat if she gets out of line. Right now he's confused. Should he take off his hat before or after hitting her?

★

In any case the double-grabbing female is building up a vast resentment in the breast of the puzzled male, who regards her as a strange kind of hybrid—something like a mule.

"Women in business brag they don't take advantage of their sex," said one executive I know. "That's true. They take advantage of our sex."

And a veteran bartender added this observation:

"Women don't want equal rights — they just want all rights. There are a number of strictly men's bars that do well in this town. But no bar that admitted only women has ever been a success. You tell me why—I know."

Women say this is still a man's world. But where?

"The only man's world left is in homes with two bathrooms," said a cynic. "And even when the man finds his world is hung with lady laundry."

Says Parents Must Teach Sex Hygiene

P-TA Group Told Hearsay Big Factor

"Too often sex hygiene is left up to hearsay or is learned outside home life. It should be taught in the home by mothers and fathers."

That was what Mrs. Russell Arnold of Dayton, social hygiene chairman of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, told a joint meeting of seven Mansfield P-TAs and representatives of the health department at a meeting at Hedges school last night.

Hedges P-TA members were joined by those from Carpenter, Woodland, Johnny Appleseed, Brinkerhoff, Roseland, and East Mansfield, and three nurses from the health department.

Mrs. Arnold emphasized her points about mental hygiene by many illustrations. She pointed out that often something seemingly far away bothers a child, yet if parents take it too casually, it may have a serious bearing on a child's mental outlook.

URGES HOME TEACHING

"There are a number of places where mental hygiene may be logically taught the child. The most important is the home but there also are the church, school and organizations such as the Scouts," Mrs. Arnold declared.

"Parents have to be counselors as well as mothers and fathers," she continued. "Take time to listen to your child and get his viewpoint. Too often parents neglect to listen to what their children have to say."

"There are times when fathers should be mothers and mothers should take the place of fathers," Mrs. Arnold added.

The program opened with prayer by Russell Phipps, Hedges P-TA president, and included a 15-minute musical interlude by Carol Ruderick and Jane Poland, who played the accordion.

Mrs. Arnold was introduced to the group by Mrs. Paul Etzwiler, program chairman for Hedges P-TA. Mrs. Laura Reece, Children's home matron, had charge of a nursery for children during the meeting.

Following Mrs. Arnold's talk, each of the P-TA units went to a different room in the school for an individual business meeting.

At the meeting for Hedges, Glenn Robinson city school business manager, talked about the proposed three-mill levy. It was endorsed unanimously by Hedges P-TA members.

The next meeting of the Hedges P-TA will be held Nov. 8 with Atty. Marshall Moore as the speaker.

School Levy Given OK

Five Mansfield organizations today had endorsed the proposed three-mill operating levy renewal for the city's schools, which will be before voters this fall.

The organizations include: Johnny Appleseed Band and Orchestra Parents' club, Mansfield Dental Clinic, the Children's Theater, and Hedges and Newman P-TAs.

The first three endorsements were given as a result of letters sent out by the campaign publicity committee, of which Ensil McNabb is chairman.

These letters have been sent to various organizations in the city, asking their support of the issue, McNabb said.

The two Parent-Teacher associations voluntarily voted their support of the levy at their respective meetings last night.

Visiting Nurses Aid Elderly Couple

One of the outstanding services provided by Mansfield's Visiting Nurse association is care of aged people who are ill — a service which in most cases extends beyond the point of just providing home treatment.

This was evident in the case of an 80-year-old Mansfield man who was bedfast with tuberculosis of the bone.

His wife, who was nearly eight, was unable to care for her husband due to her advanced age, so the visiting nurse made daily calls at the couple's neat little home for six months until his death a short time ago.

Despite his illness, the nurses recalled, he never lost his sense of humor. He was always overwhelmingly grateful for any small extras the nurses offered. They took along magazines and newspapers and numerous tempting dishes of food which they thought might make the passing days a bit more pleasant for the elderly man and his wife.

In addition to making home calls, members of the Visiting Nurses association also maintain a "loan cabinet" from which they can provide rubber rings, electric hairdryers, air cushions and other sick-room needs to patients who cannot afford to buy the items.

The Visiting Nurse association, headed by Mrs. Ann Thomas, is a Red Feather agency of the Community Chest which opens its drive to raise $141,663 with which to carry on the work of the Visiting Nurses association, as well as nine other affiliated agencies serving Mansfield.

MRS. ANN THOMAS . . . heads Visiting Nurses.

Seminar Planned

Lutheran pastors of Mansfield and the surrounding area will attend a seminar meeting at St. Paul Lutheran church Nov. 8 to make plans for participation in a Lutheran Cooperative Evangelical program.

Rev. Paul Buchholtz, of Bono, will be the leader.

Planning to attend the November meeting are the pastors of Mansfield's six Lutheran churches, the Oakland-Clay Memorial church, and Lutheran churches in Lucas, Mifflin, Plymouth, Shiloh, Jeromesville, Ashland, Millersburg, and Loudonville.

The Lutheran evangelistic program is being carried out by more than 10,000 congregations in the United States and Canada.

Purpose of the program is to enroll non church members in the faith of their choice.

Plans for the November seminar were made at an area pastors' conference held at St. Luke's Lutheran church under the direction of Rev. W. P. Schmidt, of Warren, one of the regional directors. Rev. J. F. Kindszatter, of Wooster, area director of the program, was the leader, and Rev. H. T. Grabau, Loundonville, was one of the speakers.

Youth Group Meets At Park

A meeting of the Richland County Farm Bureau Youth organization will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Liberty Park pavilion.

There will be a pointed discussion on county schools, consolidation curriculum and resolutions. Ralph Hulit will be the discussion leader.

Following the program, there will be a recreation period under the direction of Darwin Bryan, from the Ohio Farm Bureau, Columbus. Folk dancing, square dancing, party games and other recreation features will be included.

Tracey Memorial Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Edith Wagner Tracy, 85, wife of Rufus A. Tracy, of the Tracy and Massa Insurance firm, who died at noon Tuesday at her home, 446 Park avenue west, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday.

Memorial services will be conducted by Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church, at the Finefrock funeral home, with burial in the Mansfield cemetery.

Pallbearers announced today for Mrs. Tracy will include: Avery Hand jr., Lowell Ballet, Joe E. Massa, Fred A. Walter, Charles A. Hand and Fred Herring.

Mrs. Tracy, whose death occurred after an illnes of 27 months, was born in Canal Fulton, the daughter of the late John W. and Melinda Cook Wagner. She came to Mansfield with her parents when young, at the time her father founded the Wagner Hardware company here.

Graduating from the Mansfield public schools, Mrs. Tracy was also a graduate of the Elmira college, Elmira, N. Y. She was married to Rufus A. Tracy on Oct. 17, 1890, and they would have observed their 59th wedding anniversary next Monday.

Mrs. Tracy was an active member of the First Congregational church and a member of its Women's Missionary society. She was also a member of the Nomad and Charity clubs, two of Mansfield's oldest women's groups.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Tracy is survived by a daughter Mrs. Edward Loughridge, of 521 Woodland road, Mansfield; one son, Rufus A. Tracy jr., of Palo Alto, Calif.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Another daughter, Mrs. Rachel Dirlam died on Dec. 28, 1947.

Friends may call at the Finefrock funeral home.

CONVENTION ENDS

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The 32nd annual Kiwanis state convention closes in Cleveland today with the election of officers.

Fire Demon Identified In a Hurry

Mansfield business competitors got together this morning to identify the "Fire Demon" for today.

Ted Culler, who manages the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company store, walked up to Sam Campbell, manager of Sherwin-Williams company and said, "You're today's fire demon."

And he was right.

The identification was made at a meeting of the planning committee of the Retail Merchants association in the Chamber of Commerce rooms this morning.

Campbell had walked through the lobby of the Mansfield-Leland hotel without anyone recognizing that his "red tie" meant anything special.

As a result of the identification, Culler received today's fire extinguisher.

Culler and Campbell are both members of the committee which is planning for the annual dinner of the Retail Merchants here.

Report Theft Of Typewriter

A typewriter and a pen and pencil set were reported taken from the Ohio Brass company office building during the working hours yesterday and a tire and wheel taken from an Ashland road service station.

C. M. Yarman, plant policeman at the Ohio Brass, reported the theft to police at 6:10 p. m. Total of the typewriter and the set was placed at $57 50

The tire and wheel, taken from the Shell station on Ashland road, was reported by the station manager, Alex Walker. Walker valued the stolen goods at $20 and said the merchandise was on display outside the station.

'Cowboys' Rough, Brand Young Boy

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Six-year old Lynn Hanover told police he thought the other "cowboys" got a little too rough when they branded him—but really—with a cigaret.

Llynn said the junior broncho busters tied him and a five-year "podner" like calves. They burned Lynn with a cigaret on his arm and leg. The younger horseless cowboy was released but Lynn was left tied to a thicket.

AIDS TRAFFIC FLOW

SHELBY — In order to relieve congestion on High School avenue between the Central school and Main street angle parking has been eliminated and the streets have been repainted for parellel parking.

Up and Down the Street . . .

NO PROBLEM—

Mansfielders with gardens shouldn't have any trouble deciding what to do with their leaves, garden hobbyists believe. The leaves, when anchored down with soil or stones, make good protection for flowers and shrubs during the winter and even will keep such garden crops as kale and swiss chard alive through the winter so they will have an early start in the spring. Piles of leaves covered with earth in the garden will provide good fertilizer to plow under next spring.

★

THANKS TO CITY—

Members of the Newman P-TA, meeting last night at the school, extended a vote of thanks to the city government of Mansfield for the traffic light, recently installed at the intersection of Grace street and Central avenue. The busy intersection is near the school entrance and Newman pupils must cross the intersection. Grace street leads directly to Liberty park and Central avenue is a main thoroughfare in that section of the city. School boy patrols guard the intersection before and after school and during the noon hour.

Chatter . . .

Pfc. Wayne L. Miller erroneously becoming a "junior" in yesterday's chatter column. Pfc. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Miller, 576 Arlington avenue, is visiting his parents, accompanied by his fiancee, Miss June Widenback, and friends from Trenton, N. J.

★

Four Mansfield students at Ohio State university being pledged to fraternities. They are Philip A. Preble, Acacia; James Eurgene Gatton, Phi Kappa Sigma: Richard P. Rohleder, Phi Kappa Sigma; James N. Draffan, Sigma Chi.

★

George Ridenour, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ridenour, 64 Helen avenue, being elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity at the College of Wooster. Ridenour, a senior, is majoring in German and is president of Delta Phi Alpha, national German honorary, and a member of Eta Sigma Phi, classics honorary.

Third Bogus $20 Bill Hits City

A third $20 bogus bill was passed in a Mansfield hardware store yesterday by an unknown customer who left the store before the bill was discovered.

Police, who confiscated the bill, said the counterfeit money bore the serial number B 70909-801 D, identical to those bills recently passed in quantity in the Cleveland and Akron areas.

The first counterfeit $20 bill was passed in a deposit from a local firm to a bank here early in September. The second bill showed up about three weeks later in a Mansfield store.

Campbell said he was going south on Bowman and attempted a left turn onto West Third when the elderly man started crossing West Third from the north to the south curbs.

Visiting 11 Boasts Four Wins In Row

Two teams which have been increasing in stature as the season rolls along will collide in Arlin field Friday night.

That clash, one of the top schoolboy battles in the state this week, pits once-beaten Mansfield Senior high against the undefeated Euclid Jets from up Cleveland way. Senior high has copped three straight since dropping its opener while Euclid is unbeaten in four contests.

Mansfield has rolled up 108 points to 63 for its opposition while Euclid has counted 75 against 33 for its opponents. However, the Tyger defense has gotten progressively (34, 15, 14,0) better since its first game.

The Euclid aggregation seems to have come into its own after a rocky start this year. The Euclid team is made up of varsity performers who played with Euclid Shore and Euclid Central last year. The latter pair of schools were merged into one big Class A school this fall.

Spartaco DiBiasio, former Oberlin college star and an assistant at Shore in 1948, was given the job of molding the two teams into one unit. At the start of the season, Euclid just managed to nip Ashtabula, 7 to 6 and Zanesville, 21 to 20. Then its knocked off Cleveland Shaw, 13 to 7, and powered over Toledo Woodward, 24 to 0.

Just the week before, powerful Toledo Waite was able to manage only a 19-to-6 decision over Woodward. So Euclid's big team seems to have enough power to give the highly-rated Tygers a rough evening.

BIG WEIGHT MARGIN

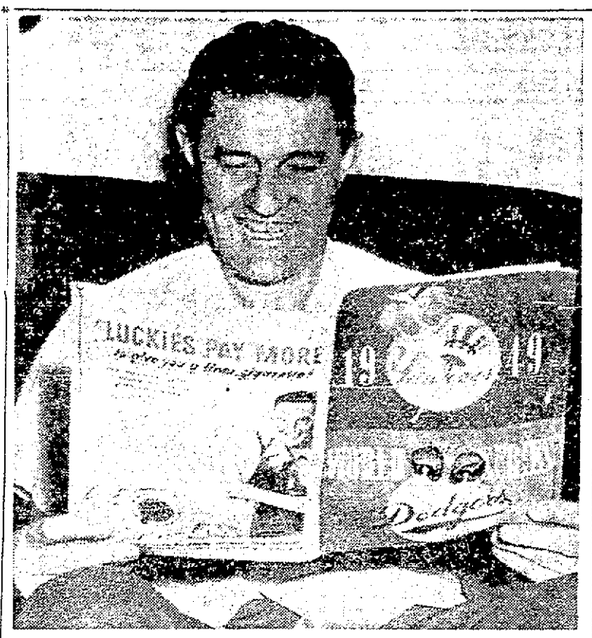
Euclid outweighs the Tygers 13 pounds per man on the line and five pounds in the backfield. A lot of the line poundage stems from the two ends—Norton Boston, 190 and Dick Sweet, 198. Both stand 6-2 and are listed as pretty good pass catchers by Tyger scouts.

George Blanchfield a 160-pound shorty quarterbacks the Euclid T and handles part of the passing. Blanchfield completed only seven of 23 tosses against Shaw and Woodward.

The real threats in the backfield are Tom Srpan, a 165-pound triple threater and Big Bob Marich. Marich hits the scales at 195 pounds on a 5-9 frame and is the brusing style of power runner. He is the state heavyweight wrestling champion and last year took second in the shotput in the Class A state meet in Columbus with a heave of 51 feet, 7¾ inches.

Manning the other halfback post is Harold Moses, a 100-yard dash man.

Scout Fred Staub, who has watched Euclid in two games, reports that the invaders will present a well-rounded attack. Staub says that DiBiasio has worked wonders with the Euclid team and it looks like a classy unit which can push Senior high to the limit.



RECALLS BIG MOMENTS—Back home after a week spent rubbing shoulders with the World Champion New York Yankees, Mansfielder Ed Henrich looks over his Worlds Series souvenir program. Henrich spent the week with his brother, Tommy Henrich, Yankee firstbaseman. (News-Journal Photo by Bill Graham).

Ed Henrich Says '49 Series Tops In Play

By CHARLEY STINE

World Series rehashing and fanfare is gradually dying down in most places, but in some parts of Mansfield the real, "first-hand" story is just being told.

The teller is Ed Henrich, brother of the Yankees' Old Pro Tommy Henrich, who lives at 41 Baldwin avenue and is well known in his own right around Mansfield sport circles.

Ed saw all five Series games, attended the Yankee victory dinner and returned home late Monday night. Since then he has been besieged by nearly everyone in the Brinkerhoff neighborhood and fellow workers at Westinghouse with queries about the 1949 classic.

BEST PLAYED

Henrich tells one and all that the '49 series was the best-played he has ever seen. Brother Tom has played in six classics and Ed has witnessed all except the 1938 series in which the Yanks swept four straight from Chicago.

"The pitching was magnificent", says Ed. "Joe Page and Allie Reynolds were just too much for Brooklyn. I was surprised at the way Reynolds held up for the distance, but Tom told me that the big Indian had been the club's best pitcher for the last month of the season."

Ed and others in a party of ten (including his two brothers and parents) spent the week with Tom at his Ridgewood, N. J. home, where he moved from the Henrichs' native Massillon last winter. Ridgewood is about 15 miles from Yankee Stadium, and is principally a residential town for New York workers.

It was the first year Tom had been able to get his family into the victory dinner and the party was one of the things that impressed Ed most. It was supposedly private for only players and their immediate families, but 500 people were there. Ed said the highlight of the trip for his father was an introduction to Ty Cobb at the dinner. The elder Henrich, without any disloyalty to Tommy, still remembers Cobb as the one and only.

WHY YANKS WON

As to just how the Yankees were able to nose out Boston for the American league pennant. Ed has this opinion:

"Tommy said all year that even the New York sports writers didn't give the Yanks a chance. He said for that reason that he wanted to win this pennant more than any ever before. If that was the feeling of the other players, it probably is the answer.

"All the players have only the highest praise for Casey Stengel. He is liked principally for his policy of placing confidence in his players and letting them think for themselves in most cases. Apparently he has no strict rules but keeps order by making his players like and respect him."

Cadets Blaik Is UP Coach Of the Week

BY STAN OPOTOWSKY

NEW YORK —(UP)— He has been known as coach of some of the greatest teams in football history, yet never as the greatest coach.

He has a passion for planning—and consequently starting planning for 1949's toughest game nine months ago.

His offenses have been among the most potent of the decade, yet he considers defense the key to all victories.

He sent his boys out on a man's errand, and they produced a man's result—the 21 to 7 upset defeat over Michigan which ended the Wolverine victory string at 25.

He's Coach Earl (Red) Blaik of Army, the United Press of the week. The Cadet triumph at Ann Arbor, Michigan, Saturday hoisted Blaik from the status of a talent collector to that of a football brain.

SHOT THE WORKS

Blaik really shot the works at Michigan. He said, "we've been preparing for this one for nine months. We are ready. If we lose there will be no excuses."

Here is an example of the extremes to which Blaik went in getting ready for Michigan: Army originally was scheduled to open this season against the University of Hawaii. Blaik found out that Hawaii used the T-formation.

"Cancel that game," he ordered, "I want to play nothing but single wing teams so we'll be used to them in our defense set-up" Davidson was substituted.

Even little Davidson showed Blaik one weakness—pass defense. So he invented a new defense, just for Michigan passes. It was a "zone-ball" defense. Each back was assigned a zone but, if he were positive that the ball had left his zone, then he could leave it. Thus, no Army backs were tied up guarding decoy Michigan receivers once the ball was thrown.

Blaik feels that coaches worry too much about offense. "You know what your offense is," he says. "You know your own plays and you know the capabilities of your players.

"That's why Army always chooses to kick off, not to receive. We want to get a first and fast look at their offense—and maybe we can get set early in the game for anything our scouts may have missed."

Rangers Play Tough Maroons On Sunday

Mansfield's pro football Rangers will meet their stiffest test of the season Sunday afternoon when the Sandusky Maroons invade Stadium field.

The Sandusky team holds down fourth place in the Ohio football league but lost only to the league-leading Massillon Chevrolets, 20 to 0. Sandusky holds victories over the Toledo CIO all-stars, 39 to 0 and the Akron Bulldogs, 31 to 13. Mansfield knocked off Toledo, 20 to 0, but lost to Akron, 6 to 0.

Mansfield needs a win over the Maroons to keep in the running for the league crown. The Rangers are now tied with Akron for second place, one game behind the Massillon eleven which has won four straight encounters. Mansfield can take undisputed possession of second by beating Sandusky — if Massillon notches its expected win over Akron.

Massillon and Akron meet in Akron Sunday while in the third league game, the Bucyrus Green Hornets entertain the Marion Angels at Bucyrus.

The Chevies can clinch the league championship by knocking off Akron Sunday and Mansfield on Oct. 23 at Stadium field.

Massillon rates as the best offensive and defensive machine in the league. The Chevies have averaged 39.5 points per game and have not yielded a single point. Sandusky is second on offense with a 23.3 average while Mansfield is in the runner-up spot on the defense with a mark of 4.5 points.

GOOD PASSING

With the Rangers coming up with a passing attack for the first time, Sunday's battle shapes up as a toss-up. Ralph Majors completed eight of 12 tosses against Bucyrus last Sunday to give Mansfield its first aerial threat. Coach Jimmy Lymper says Majors and Elroy Jones will throw even more against Sandusky.

Boxer Dies After Bout In Detroit

DETROIT, Mich — (UP) — Authorities began a "through investigation" today into the death of lightweight boxer Talmadge Bussey, 26, who died after a furious ring battle with Chicagoan Luther Rawlings.

Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien summoned "all concerned" to a conference to discuss the death of the Negro battler who once fought and lost to champion Ike Williams.

Bussey died yesterday, 13 hours after he had fallen beneath a barrage of blows from Rawlings, himself so stunned that he was unable to remember events after the sixth round of the fight.

Senior High Cross-Country Team Wins 4th

Coach Narry Mehock's Senior high cross-country team swept to its fourth straight victory of the season here yesterday by a 20-35 margin over previously unbeaten Marion Harding.

The Tyger harriers will go after revenge against Akron South at 4 p. m. Friday afternoon at Coolridge. South defeated Mansfield 34-27 in the first football game of the season here. Saturday, the Tygers will run against Cleveland Cathedral Latin, also at Coolridge.

Fesler to Concentrate on Buckeyes Defense

Ohio State Statistics Lead Big Ten Teams

(Compiled from Wire Service)

COLUMBUS—Coach Wesley Fesler of Ohio State called a halt to offensive workouts for his bruised football players today and concentrated on defensive preparations for Saturday's clash with Minnesota.

Fesler put his charges through an offensive scrimmage yesterday against the 5-3-2-1 defense used by the Gophers.

It was a toss up whether Fesler is worried more about the size of Minnesota's forward wall or the injuries which a half-dozen or more Buckeye players are still nursing from last week's tussle at Southern California.

Sophomore Vic Janowicz, key safety man on defense, is definitely out of this week's game and Fesler still can't be sure of several other players.

End Dick Schnittker and tackle Jack Wilson, both suffering ligament injuries in their knees, worked out lightly yesterday between sessions with the team trainer.

Chuck Gilbert, first string left end, didn't practice at all because of a severe chest cold. Neither did guard Jim Thomas who has a bruised knee tendon, wingback Walt Klevay who has a shoulder bruise, nor tackle bill Edwards who has a cold.

The only two notes of optimism in the Buckeye camp were (A) Fesler's report that despite the injuries the team's mental attitude for the all-important Minnesota game is "good," and (B) the return of end Ralph Armstrong to the lineup. Armstrong has been out for a month with a shoulder separation.

BEST FIGURES

The Buckeyes, statistics showed today, rank as both the top offensive and top defensive team in the big ten, while Minnesota holds second in both classifications.

Ohio State moved to the front in both divisions in the game against Indiana, gaining 527 yards while holding Indiana to 96. Minnesota, in its lone league game against Northwestern, piled up 371 yards and held the Wildcats to 160 to rank second to Ohio in both divisions.

Ohio State, which has used six men to pass, ranked at the top in the aerial figures, completing .652 per cent of its 23 passes attempted. Minnesota, with a .353 average, was fifth in this division.

Dixie Walker Cut Loose, May Pilot

BALTIMORE — (UP) — Dixie Walker, the one-time people's choice of Brooklyn, today may be the top choice to manage the Baltimore Orioles next year.

Walker, given his outright release by the Pittsburgh Pirates last week after 14 years in the major leagues, filed his application with Jack Dunn, president of the International League club, yesterday.

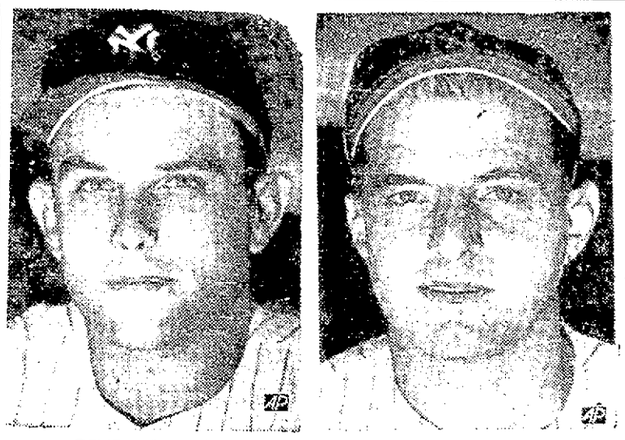
Said Dunn: "Walker is very much in the running."

Walker went to the Pirates in 1948 after a brilliant nine-year career with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Cincy Loses First

CINCINNATI — (UP) — The Indianapolis Capitals ruined the debut of the Cincinnati team in the American Hockey league by Blanking the home club, 3 to 0, last night before 8,000 disappointed fans.

Knute Rockne, famed Notre Dame football coach, also was the first official track coach ever to serve at the Irish institution.



GENE WOODLING — TOMMY HENRICH

SERIES STARS—These two Ohioans landed on the World Series all-star by Oscar Fraley, United Press sports scribe. Tommy Henrich, the Massillon product, landed the first base job while Gene Woodling led the outfielders in hitting. Woodling got his start with the Mansfield Braves in the old Ohio State league.

Eight Yanks, 4 Dodgers On Series All-Star Team

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(UP)— Winding up the world series for another year, a recapitulation of the five-game frolic shows that the Yankees, as winners, naturally walked off with most of the individual honors but the Dodgers captured four spots on a world series all-star team.

Picking the best man at each position, strictly off their records in the classic, your lineup would be:

Catcher — Roy Campanella, Brooklyn.

First base—Tommy Henrich, Yankees.

Second base—Gerry Coleman, Yankees.

Shortstop — Pee-Wee Reese, Brooklyn.

Third base—Bobby Brown, Yankees.

Left field — Gene Woodling, Yankees.

Center field—Joe Di Maggio, Yankees.

Right field—Gene Hermanski, Dodgers.

Pitchers—Allie Raynolds and Joe Page, Yankees, and Preacher Roe, Dodgers.

Reynolds, the Indian fast ball artist, was the classic's best pitcher. He won the first game, a two-hit shutout, and saved the fourth for Ed Lopat by pitching hitless ball for three and a third innings. In 12-1/3 innings he struck out 14 and gave only four walks. Second honors went to Roe, the skinny southpaw from Arkansas, who hurled a six-hit shutout for Brooklyn's only win. Page saved the third and fifth games, giving six hits in nine innings and yielding two runs.

CAMPANELLA BEST

Campanella easily was the outstanding catcher. He hit .267, a good mark in this "pitchers' series." Defensively he was terrific. Phil Rizzuto, picked off third by Campanella, rated the burly Dodger as "the best I've ever seen."

Brooklyn's Gil Hodges gave Henrich a close race for first base honors but Ohio Tommy won out on his hitting, batting .263 against Hodges' .235 as well as winning the opener with his round trip blast.

At second, Coleman easily stood out over Jackie Robinson, hitting .250 and driving home four important runs as he decided one game. Robinson hit only .188. Coleman had three doubles and four RBI's; Robinson one double and two RBI's. Afield, each had one error.

The fielders, while adaquate, were far from brilliant. Woodling, in left for three games, hit .400, three of his four blows being doubles, and scored four runs. Hermanski in right field batted .308 for four games, getting four hits, one of them a triple, and drove home two runs. That made them the standouts in their respective sections of real estate.

DiMAG AGAIN

In center field you have to go for the ailing DiMaggio although Duke Snider was brilliant defensively. The Duke made several breath-taking catches — but so did DiMag, playing on nerve alone.

But the deciding factor in DiMaggio's selection was the spark which his presence ignited in the Yankees. That was the one thing the Dodgers lacked — along with hitting and pitching.

To Wear Knickers

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP — Golf fashion note: the Youngstown left-handers golf association has decided to ask its members to wear knickers next season. White linen knickers or flannel "plus fours" will be uniform of the day.

Mack To Make Determined Bid In 1950

PHILADELPHIA — (AP — Connie Mack will need a program to tell one infielder from another at the Philadelphia Athletics' training camp next spring.

The 86-year-old baseball veteran, probably figuring that in numbers there is strength, built up his infielding corps to 13 today preparing for what may be his last campaign as manager of the Athletics.

During the 1949 season, the A's had trouble at times fielding a major league infield as injuries took their toll of the club's veterans.

Nobody's job will be safe next spring. For first base the A's will have Ferris Fain, this year's regular; Hank Biasatti, a bench-warmer in 1949, and Billy Hitchcock, recently acquired from the Boston Red Sox.

For second there are veteran Pete Suder and young Nelson Fox, who performed ably during the season just completed.

Eddie Joost, who is nearing the end of his career, will have to beat out young Billy DeMars, up from Buffalo, and Tod Davis, another 1949 bench-warmer, for the shortstop assignment.

At third the log shows veteran Hank Majeski, infielder-outfielder Don White, Kermit Wahl, up from Montreal; Gene Markland, acquired from Buffalo, and Frankie Gustine, bought from the Chicago Cubs who sent him to Los Angeles last August.

Of course, many of these men can play a number of positions, which makes the possibilities almost limitless.

SIGNS AGREEMENT

Mack, who has let out hints that he may quit next season after rounding out 50 years as manager of the A's, opened the doors for a flood of new talent by signing a working agreement with the Buffalo International league club.

And quickly he bought Markland and pitcher Bob Hooper, winner of 19 and loser of three for the triple- league champions.

Could be Mack is determined to make an all-out bid for the American league flag next year. He often said he wants one more winner before he quits.

Fear Steel Strike to Hinder Spring Planting By Farmers

Equipment Shortages Predicted

Small Stockpiles Seen Diminishing

COLDWATER — (AP) — The nation's farmers will be hit with the full impact of the steel strike early next spring as they begin their soil preparation, tillage and planting

This means vitally - needed equipment may not be available when the time arrives for its seasonal use, farm equipment manufacturers said Tuesday.

The first effects of the steel walkout will be felt by farm equipment dealers within the next 40 to 60 days, said William M Werner, general manager of the New Idea division of AVCO Manufacturing corporation

"The strike is igniting a delayed fuse so far as the nation's basic food producer —the farmer — is concerned," Werner said.

The full impact will hit the farmer about the time of his next spring planting and, Werner added, "there will be a break in the shipment of new farm implements of approximately the same length as the duration of the strike."

Werner commented on the steel strike at a news conference in connection with the New Idea Company's 50th anniversary and its newly-completed $5 000 000 expansion program.

He explained New Idea, like most other farm equipment manufacturers, has been producing at near-maximum capacity since the end of the war

Because of heavy demand, he said, there has been no opportunity to stock-pile finished products And strike created curtailment of production may seriously reduce the available supply as the seasonal demand reaches its height.

The continuing heavy demand for equipment, Werner said, is due to mechanization of family farms getting underway

Up to 1940, he explained the e was wide use of large custom-type farm equipment on a shared-ownership basis

The trend toward smaller individually-owned equipment was interrupted by defense demands and the war

Since the war, Werner said, the individual farmer's interest in owning his own equipment has been greatly intensified

State Steps Into Portage County Gambling Dispute

COLUMBUS — (INS) — A Portage county Good Government Group took its complaint of corruption among local public officials to the governor Tuesday and was told the case would be turned over to Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy.

The group, led by William Wannemacher, ancient history professor at Kent State university complained particularly about the case of a former deputy sheriff who was indicted after he played slot machines for the purpose of bringing their exhibitors to justice.

Governor Lausche said he was convinced the man was innocent of any criminal intent and that he would ask Duffy to pay particular attention to the case.

Lausche said the possibility of a special grand jury investigation was discussed but that no decision was made in the matter.

Wannemacher told the governor that a 20-year state of public corruption had come to a head in the county and that good government groups had lost confidence in the sheriff they helped to elect

RED ADMIRAL DIES

MOSCOW — (AP) — Vice Admiral A. A. Nikolaev, 44, deputy chief of political administration for the USSR armed forces, died after a long illness, it was announced Tuesday.

Congressman Seeks Probe Into Lustron Corporation

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Rep. Albert M. Cole, R , Kan., yesterday called for investigation of "disturbing reports" that there has been political intrigue, mismanagemnt and waste in the use of Reconstruction Finance corporation money by the Lustron corporation

Cole said he will introduce a resolution asking Congress to make the investigation. He said Lustron, a Columbus, O. firm which makes prefabricated houses, has received some $37,500.000 from the RFC since 1947.

The corporation has been losing $1,000,000 a month and RFC has been footing the bill, Cole said.

"In order for Lustron to continue, RFC must loan it $1,000,000 a month and we are entering the off season for housing," Cole said.

"The problem of sales and distribution of these houses is still as much a mystery as it was when the President approved the loan, Cole said. "Neither RFC nor Lustron has any plan for its solution."

Science Tests Safer Means Of Gaining Cattle Vaccine

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Promising leads towards easier and safer methods of producing vaccine against foot-and-mouth disease—one of the scourges of the cattle industry—are under investigation

The still-experimental techniques are designed to "grow" virus for vaccines in test tubes and in hatching hen's eggs rather than employing living cattle, as is now the practice.

Animal-disease researchers of the Department of Agriculture say that the advantages of test-tube or hen s eggs methods would be as follows

1. They would eliminate the necessity of using large numbers of cattle—involving problems of special care and precaution

2. They would rule out the possibility which exists under present techniques of loss of the meat of cattle used for the production of virus

(The present technique calls for injecting living virus into the tongues of healthy animals The virus 'grows" in blisters produced on the tongue But the technique calls for removal of the head of the animal before the virus has a chance to enter the general blood stream Then the animal s body is dressed in the usual way, and the meat is sold for food after inspection)

Scientists point out that while rigid methods are employed, there always exists the possibility of the virus getting into the blood stream before the infected tongue is removed

Also occasionally, the still-healthy body is contaminated some way by the severed head. When such things happen, the meat of the animal is lost.

A test tube or hen s egg method of growing the virus would avoid such possibilities, they say
